Tension Still Stalks Area Of Chicago Riot

CHICAGO (AP) — Officials have turned aside criticism from leaders of the Hispanic community who said police overreacted in a Puerto Rican Independence Day disturbance on the Northwest side that left two persons dead and more than 100 injured.

Witnesses said the six-hour disturbance that included looting, street fights and store fires began Saturday after two policemen went into Humboldt Park to break up a dispute between members of two rival gangs.

Police Supt. James Rochford said Sunday that officers were threatened by a "kneeling gunman" and that an "exchange of gunfire" resulted.

Rochford said he would not be able to tell who shot whom until ballistics tests have been completed, but he said the policemen did not intentionally shoot into the crowd.

Early reports indicated that one man was attempting to shoot at a police officer, missed but hit another man in the park. One of the officers then fired at the gunman, fatally wounding him.

Jolio Osorio, 26, and Rafael Cruz, 25, were killed by gunfire and at least four other persons were wounded during the incident, police said.

Rochford, who spent most of Sunday supervising what he called the "mop-up operation," said "there is still tension in the area."

Asst. Deputy Police Supt. William Keating, who spoke to reporters from a West Side command post set up in Humboldt Park, said that the situation was "in hand."

Police arrested 119 persons Saturday night in a sweep to clear the park after the shootings. Fifteen juveniles were turned over to their parents. The rest appeared in Circuit Court Sunday where they were charged with mob-action related offenses, authorities said. Taverns along Division Street from Western to California Avenue were closed Sunday as city sanitation workers cleaned up bricks, broken bottles and debris.

Spanish-speaking residents had celebrated Independence Day with a parade down State Street in 90-degree heat and continued with parties and picnics throughout the city.

Acting Mayor Michael Bilandic said the "tone of the day" was set by a bombing earlier Saturday that caused $8,000 in damage to the fifth floor of the County Building. The FALX, a Puerto Rican group seeking independence for the island, claimed responsibility for the explosion in which no one was injured.

Police said Cruz was killed when a shot fired at them went wide and hit him. Another person also died of gunfire during Puerto Rican Independence Day riot. (AP Wirephoto)

Fire Kills 9-Day-Old Boy

A nine-day-old boy died Sunday night when fire burned an upstairs bedroom at 733 Lavette street, Benton Harbor firemen reported.

Dead on arrival at Mercy hospital was Cory Phifer, son of Evelyn Phifer. Dr. Paul Tam, deputy medical examiner, said exact cause of death had not been determined as of 10 a.m. today.

Firemen said the baby's mother had fed him and left him in the bedroom while she went downstairs to tend five other children for whom she was babysitting. When she noticed smoke she attempted to rescue Corey but was driven back from the stairway by heavy smoke.

The fire occurred at the residence of Shirley Campbell, identified by firemen as a sister of Evelyn Phifer. Firemen said Evelyn Phifer's address was listed as 314 Lake avenue, Benton Harbor.

Firemen said the blaze originated in the upstairs bedroom where the baby was. Cause has not been determined, but firemen said damage appeared slight.

The baby was found on a cushion on the floor of the bedroom. The alarm was received at 10:43 p.m. and Corey was reported dead on arrival at the hospital at 10:55.

Firemen said no one else was injured. They said Shirley Campbell is the mother of three of the other children who were in the house and Veronica Ellis is the mother of two.

Firemen said the house is owned by James Scruggs, Stevensville.

In other Benton Harbor fire alarms over the weekend:

Benton Harbor firemen said 12-year-old James Hobbs Jr. son of James Hobbs, 747 Lavette street, was fortunate to escape uninjured after gasoline he had spilled on a power mower inside a garage ignited and set the structure ablaze.

Firemen said they responded at 11:25 a.m. Sunday to the fire in a garage attached to the Hobbs home. They said damage was estimated at $1,000. The fire occurred in the same block as the other fire later Sunday in which Corey Phifer died.

Smelly Alewife Dieoff Feared On Lake Beaches

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer

Smelly small visitors, the alewives, are making their annual spawning runs toward the beaches along Lakes Michigan and Huron. Experts say they could be a greater nuisance this time than they have been in years.

Still, the threat is far smaller than a decade ago when billions of the tiny fish died and rotted on beaches. That smelly 1967 dieoff cost Michigan resorts more than $55 million, the West Michigan Tourist Association estimates.

This year, observers along the western shores of Lakes Michigan and Huron have reported the heaviest dieoffs in years, according to Edward Brown, a biologist for the U.S. Great Lakes Fishery Laboratory in Ann Arbor.

Those dieoffs near Waukegan, Ill., Milwaukee, Wis., and Cheboygan, Mich., may have seemed larger than usual because of east winds pushing the dead fish toward shore, Brown reported.

But two factors — record winter cold and an unusually warm spring — provide potential for more alewife problems than usual, Brown said.

The fish are known to be susceptible to changes in water temperatures during spawning and unusual winter cold weakens them even before spawning starts. In addition, warm weather brings the alewives nearer shore than normal.

Brown isn't willing to make flat predictions about this year's threat from alewives because "it's too early to tell." The heaviest dieoffs ordinarily start about mid June and run into early July.

However, he did say, "I (See back page, sec. 1, col. 8)

Berrien Lakes Claim Two

One person drowned and another was presumed drowned as the result of separate accidents on two lakes in Berrien county over the weekend.

Police reported that James C. Cooper, 52, of 227 Butternut street, Benton township, was presumed drowned Saturday night after falling from a moving outboard motor boat on Paw Paw Lake at Watervliet.

The drowning victim, Ronald Fee, 18, of 193 S Pucker street, Niles, drowned while swimming at Wagner lake, west of Buchanan late Sunday afternoon. His body was recovered from the lake, but authorities are still searching for Cooper.

Fee's death is the second confirmed drowning in Berrien county this year.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said Cooper fell from a moving 15-foot boat powered by a 65-horsepower motor, owned by Leo Harvey, 49, of Benton Harbor. The accident was reported at 8:34 p.m. Saturday, and occurred off Sherwood bay in the northeast corner of Paw Paw lake. The search has been centered 40 yards off shore in about 30 feet of water and resumed again this morning.

Berrien sheriff's deputy Van Clark said Lillie Sims, 24, of 323 Walnut street, Benton township, reported she was riding in the boat with Cooper and her three-year-old son, Mark Sims. Clark said Mrs. Sims reported Cooper asked her to take the wheel of the boat as he walked toward the back. She told police she wasn't familiar with speed boats and didn't look back until hearing a noise.

Mrs. Sims said when she looked back, Cooper was gone. She told police she was able to drive the boat around the area, looking for Cooper, and then to shore to obtain help. She estimated Cooper disappeared about 8:30 p.m.

Barney Hollis of 1001 Windermere Landing, Watervliet, said he saw a man in the water and heard him yell to turn the boat around and pick him up. Hollis said he thought the man was water skiing, and didn't think anything of it, until he looked

BREEDSVILLE BUILDING BURNS: Century-old building in Breedsville was destroyed in fire that swept structure on CR-390 at 8:20 a.m. Sunday. Blaze was believed to have been touched off by lightning during storm which went through area early Sunday morning. Two other major fires over weekend destroyed production building of Acro Chemical Co. in Fennville and parts room of Hayden-Beardslee Ford agency in Cassopolis. Damage was placed at "over $100,000" at car agency, but no estimates were immediately available in the other two fires. Other pictures, story appear on page 34. (Tom Renner photo)

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

First Step Difficult In Solving Energy Problem

Government, be it in Washington or at lower levels, has two standard approaches to problem solving.

The first is to ignore the dilemma if at all possible because whatever the solution it is bound to step on somebody's toes, and aching toes make their presence felt in the voting booth.

If the problem is beyond the first stage, the tendency is to appropriate a wad of money and to create another bureau to spend it on the problem.

Congress has followed this approach to the energy situation with the respect that the British accord their monarchy.

It chose to ignore Richard Nixon's 1970 proposal to fund a research program leading towards U.S. independence from petroleum imports.

Jerry Ford received the same treatment even after OPEC, the Oil Producing and Exporting Countries, first embargoed oil shipments to nations suspected of undue friendship with Israel and then released the precious fuel at four times what it had been priced.

Jimmy Carter gained a more attentive audience since he is of the same faith as the Congressional majority.

Carter proposed two ideas: one, a complex tax-rebate scheme on the consumption of petroleum products; and two, a shift from petroleum to coal as the primary source for heat and power.

The plan would be administered by an energy czar under whom would be consolidated all the other federal agencies dabbling in the energy field.

Japanese Eye Worms To Help Their Railroads

American railroads are not the only ones having difficulty keeping their financial affairs on the track. The Japanese National Railway Corp. has been operating with large annual deficits and its officers have been looking for ways of trimming the red ink.

Earthworms, they have decided, may be part of the solution. Worm farms are going to be cultivated under Tokyo's elevated tracks.

"There's a lot of money to be made in earthworms," explains an official. "They only take three months to grow, and you only have to feed them sludge."

If that explanation isn't convincing, the railroad official has another. "We will also save money by not having to patrol with security guards under the elevated tracks. Who would want to go there with all those worms and sludge?"

Earthworm fanatics, that's who, and it still seems like a peculiar way to run a railroad.

Senate in writing a version of how to meet the energy situation.

The two bills now go to a joint conference committee to iron out their differences.

Each bill rejects Carter's call for a one-man administrator as giving too much authority to a single person.

The Senate bill would create a three-member commission to take over the functions of the Federal Power Commission which regulates the distribution and pricing of electricity and natural gas, the Federal Energy Administration which regulates the pricing of petroleum, and the Energy Research and Development Administration which to date has spewed out nothing but paperwork.

The President could veto decisions by the new commission.

The House plan calls for a five-member Department of Energy as opposed to Carter's call for a Secretary of Energy.

The House would consolidate the various agencies now struggling with energy, but would separate the pricing functions. The Department would regulate oil pricing, while a new independent Federal Energy Regulatory Commission would price electricity and natural gas.

The White House could not, under the House plan, veto decisions by either of the proposed units.

The House version differs strikingly with both Carter and the Senate. The House's plan requires FERC and the DE to be revived every five years by Congress.

Both the House and Senate versions discard Carter's "gas guzzler" tax scheme.

The Senate proposal is the more appealing because it puts all facets of the energy question under one roof.

The House's divided functional approach unduly layers the bureaucracy and adds more fuel to the fire of bureaucratic bickering and confusion.

Whether Congress' collective wisdom as expressed in the House and Senate bills is more perceptive than Carter's singleminded purpose is debatable, but it does indicate two things.

Declining the one-man concept is a polite way of saying Congress is not impressed by James Schlesinger who is Carter's choice for energy czar; and for the first time in quite a spell we find agreement with Congress.

Balking at the "gas guzzler" tax is making hay for the 1978 elections when all the House members and a third of the senators come up for a vote.

Nonetheless, it exposes the fallacy in Carter's approach which puts a premium on using less energy, but makes only a feeble gesture toward solving the crucial aspect of the energy situation. This is finding a greater supply of energy.

Year-Around School Is Still Being Discussed

The 12-month school year continues to be discussed by some educators, as it has been talked about for at least 40 years, but there is no evidence it is winning numerous converts. There is a growing tendency of educators — and the public — to rebel at new financing schemes, however.

Year-round classes, or a drastic shortening of the usual summer vacation period of 12 to 14 weeks, would make more efficient use of the existing multi-billion-dollar investment in school plants and equipment, advocates of the plan contend. And children's mental habits would be subject to less serious interruption.

Some of the sentiment for the present system is rooted in custom. The labor of children once was needed in summer months when this was chiefly an agrarian economy.

That is no longer true, but another objection comes from parents who say long summer recesses are needed if vacations are to be family affairs and play their proper part in child development.

SAYS BUREAUCRACY IS TOO BIG

Editor,

They say Carter has never quit running for president. Gerald Ford and Ronald Reagan are still running, too. They should let a Republican from the South run. Senator Howard Baker would be a good candidate. If we had two hillbillies running against each other that should be very interesting. Ford and Reagan would split the party again and Carter would come in big in 1980.

Some people are not very happy with the Carter administration. There is something wrong when the stock market goes down to a 16-month low. It is going to take some doing to keep inflation below 10 percent. They thought they could keep it under 6 percent. They will never make it. Too bad we don't have more men in Washington like our Congressman Stockman.

President Carter thought he could eliminate some of the bureaucracy in Washington. But they are so dug in only a complete change could make it better.

In the last two terms of Franklin Roosevelt and the Truman days a liberal bunch of Democrats got jobs in the Federal government and they kept adding on until there are over 358,000 employees today that cannot be laid off. They are the ones that run our government but they have to have money. We have had a Democratic controlled Congress most of the time for over 40 years. They are the ones that have voted the money. Over 400 billion that had to be borrowed. With that much national debt we are in big trouble. It doesn't make any difference how conservative your president is, they keep right on spending your money.

Incorporation of a council of Berrien industrial leaders to spark community improvement was revealed today, along with the news that 24 directors have elected Whirlpool Board Chairman Elisha Gray II the council's first president. Other officers of the Area Resources Improvement Council (ARIC) are Bert E. Phillips, executive vice president of Clark Equipment company, vice president, and Ellet Eberhardt, president of Inter-City bank, secretary-treasurer. Among the purposes of ARIC was formed are: Promotion of cooperation in all matters of interest for the welfare and benefit of Berrien county, and, especially, its Twin Cities area; development of an increasing civic interest, and provision of aid to the area's governmental bodies, agencies and organizations in finding practical and efficient methods to accomplish improved moral, physical and social conditions.

On Jan. 8, 1952, The News-Palladium told the story of Gus and Maria Mellas — of their romance that spanned an ocean — and of the tragic death of the young mother in childbirth just eight months after she joined her husband in America. But from the death of Maria, the mother, came life for Maria, the child. Young Maria will be five months old tomorrow. Her father, Gus Mellas, wants her to see the island, Tinos, where her mother grew to womanhood. "Since she will never know her mother," said the father. So Maria, the youngest person to ever get a passport through the Berrien county courthouse, will fly to Tinos on June 24 with a cousin of her mother. When the child can appreciate her mother's traditions, says her father, young Maria will return to this country, as her mother intended to do, to make a life as an American.

SAYS NATION SHOULD TRY GOD'S SOLUTION

Editor,

There is something that really amazes me every time I read the newspaper. How can anyone read the daily paper or listen to the radio and not see their need for God?

Bold headlines scream out situations that only God can solve, yet men with their puny minds and limited power are running here and there looking for some magical answer to the world's dilemmas.

"Chinese Official Sees Big U.S. — Soviet War," (Herald Palladium, 5/13/77) That's news? God told us that centuries ago. The Bible tells us of an inevitable conflict ahead such as this world has never known. What mere man, or even combination of men hold in their hands the ability to control an event of this magnitude? It's coming. You better be ready for it.

"Foil Addition Cost $6.5 Million," "Prize Stumps County Board," And that's only additional facilities to what we already support. Just suppose this $6.5 million had been spent to reach men and women and lead them to faith in God? If we'd have put a Bible in their hands it's not likely their hands would later have held a gun, a knife, a bottle of liquor, or dope

Non-Handicapped Are Helped, Too

WASHINGTON — Something very unexpected occurred at the University of Illinois after the installation of "curb cuts," those sidewalk "ramps" in the form of indentations at corners which make the walkway level with the street.

The curb cuts were constructed specifically to allow disabled students in wheelchairs to cross the street without difficulty or assistance, but the non-handicapped had some different ideas of their own about the utility of the innovation.

Timothy J. Nugent, Director of Rehabilitation Education at the university, made an informal survey and found that bicyclists thought the curb cuts were designed to allow them to cross streets without dismounting, while parents of infants were equally sure the indentations were to facilitate their travel with baby carriages.

The university maintenance crews were convinced that the improvement was designed to expedite their movement of heavy equipment, while joggers thought it was to make it easy for them to traverse the campus without breaking stride.

That story is frequently told by handicapped people who point to its obvious message: Whatever makes the world more functional for the disabled invariably improves it for everyone else too.

The Illinois success story is being applied specifically these days to a dramatic innovation which will allow handicapped people to gain access for the first time to intra-city commuter buses.

It is a totally new design called Transbus, approved only recently by Brock Adams, secretary of the Department of Transportation (DOT). Adams has the power to make his choice stick because the Urban Mass Transportation Administration, a component of DOT, provides 80 per cent of the purchase price of the thousands of new buses purchased annually in cities across the country.

For the disabled, the key features of the Transbus are its low floor, wide door and a retractable ramp, all designed specifically to allow wheelchair-bound people to use the bus to travel to jobs, stores, doctors and elsewhere.

But there are numerous other beneficiaries as well, beginning with the more than 22.6 million people who are 65 years of age or older. Almost 7 million of the elderly have infirmities which either preclude them from riding the current high-floor bus or make it dangerous for them to negotiate the steep steps.

In addition, a study conducted last year for DOT predicted that the technical and aesthetic improvements should increase ridership 10 per cent, not counting the handicapped or elderly.

The wide door is designed for wheelchairs, but it also will allow boarding time to be halved, thus reducing total trip time by 10 per cent, according to the study.

Ride quality should approach that of passenger cars, with noise and vibration reduced 70 per cent from the current levels. Accidents should be cut by about 25 per cent.

Despite the universal applicability of those projected improvements, the campaign to bring the Transbus from an experimental program to the pre-production stage was waged almost exclusively by a coalition of organizations representing the handicapped and disabled.

Nixon Still Is Ford's Millstone

WASHINGTON — Despite everything, Richard Nixon is still what's wrong with Gerald Ford.

The former president is more popular now in retirement than he was in the White House, welcomed on campuses and golf courses and intellectual seminars. Nobody asks any more if he can chew gum and walk straight at the same time.

Ford is fanned and robust and seems to enjoy his new life. He is criticizing President Carter almost as though he were still campaigning, but he indicates he really doesn't mean to undermine his successor. He just wants to maintain his role as a partisan Republican leader.

The trouble is that it is painfully obvious Ford is critical of Carter while protective of Nixon. It may be good Republican politics, although that is arguable but it does nothing to enhance Ford's stature as a senior statesman whose views should be taken seriously.

Ford was in town recently and among other activities held a private session with reporters. Several times, he resisted reporters' efforts to find out what he really thought about Nixon in the wake of those television interviews.

Ford flatly refused twice to answer questions seeking to learn if he thought President Nixon right or wrong when Nixon claimed that illegal acts become legal when done by a president.

Instead, Ford disassociated himself from Nixon's attitude by stressing that his own administration had not engaged in spying, burglary or wiretapping.

He wouldn't concede any regrets about the effect of his pardon of the man who named him vice president and thereby guaranteed him the presidency. Finally, as the questions about Nixon kept coming, he grew impatient. "Nixon's words speak for themselves," he said. "And I'm not going to say anything further."

Ford's reluctance to comment on Nixon reflects the continuing dilemma of a moderate who seeks the GOP presidential nomination as Ford has hinted he would like to do again in 1980. The conservatives still control the nominating process, as Ronald Reagan very nearly demonstrated to Ford's embarrassment last year. And many of them still sympathize with Nixon or at least with his hatred of those who forced him out of office.

Reagan predictably moved quickly to reinforce his position as the right-wing darling by agreeing with Nixon that a president ought to have the right to decide on his own what is illegal and what is not, for the sake of national security.

A move by Ford to the right, however, would lose him the broader appeal which made him run better against Carter in the general election. All factors considered, then he did against Reagan in the primaries.

Accent On Future For Catholic Graduates

BY RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

Diplomas were presented Sunday to 108 seniors of Lake Michigan Catholic high school, St. Joseph, during commencement exercises attended by a standing room only crowd at St. Joseph high school auditorium. Dr. John S. Lore, president of Nazareth college, Kalamazoo, since 1975, was commencement speaker, and he accented the future. "Start with what you have from where you are," and move into the future with a "firm commitment," said Dr. Lore. His talk was based on the class motto, "Give us but one firm spot on which to stand and we will move the earth;" and the class theme, "Tomorrow is not so far away." Lore holds a doctor of education degree from Western Michigan university.

Co-valedictorians Kristine Peterson and Craig Merdian, both with a 4.0 grade average during their four years, shared an address, taking turns in outlining the importance of living each day to the fullest, complete with love and laughter. James O'Malley, president of the Lake Michigan Catholic Area board of education, made the welcoming remarks. The Most Rev. Paul V. Donovan, bishop of Kalamazoo, gave the invocation. The Rev. Cletus M. Rose of St. Joseph Catholic church gave the benediction. Presentation of the senior class was by William McRae, assistant principal of Lake Michigan Catholic high school. Sister Mary Ann Rybarczyk awarded the diplomas. Receiving diplomas were: Cindy Allen, Anne Barlow, Gary Bartalone, Karen Bass, Joyce Bazan, Patricia Beck, Terri Beland, Patricia Biastock, Mary

Twenty-Seven Win Diplomas At MLHS

Twenty-seven seniors were graduated Sunday in the fourth commencement service held at Michigan Lutheran high school, 615 East Marquette Woods road, south of St. Joseph.

Jeanette Hasse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Hasse, 500 Kuhlback drive, Benton township, was named valedictorian and Robert Guse, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. James Guse, 4824 East Napier avenue, Benton township, salutatorian at Sunday's ceremonies.

Guse was also class speaker for the graduation and told his classmates not to be discouraged about their future.

"We could easily get caught up in the headlines in the paper," Guse said. "The problems of unemployment, energy, and inflation paint a bleak picture. But tomorrow must always be a day we look forward to, rather than dread."

"The doors to success are open to all of the graduates, Guse added, if they continue to gain information and grow with the world.

Guse went on to thank the parents and teachers of this year's graduating class for being concerned about the strong Christian background provided by the school as well as the education.

"We will strive to live," he said, "so that your efforts will not have been in vain."

The graduates were presented by Rev. Robert Johnston, the school principal. The chairman of the board of regents for Michigan Lutheran high school, Rev. Ronald Freier, distributed the diplomas.

Chamber Begins Youth Job Signups

The summer youth employment center operated by Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce is now registering Berrien county teenagers for jobs.

The center at 345 12th street, Benton Harbor, is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., according to Wayne Ransbottom, director of the summer employment program.

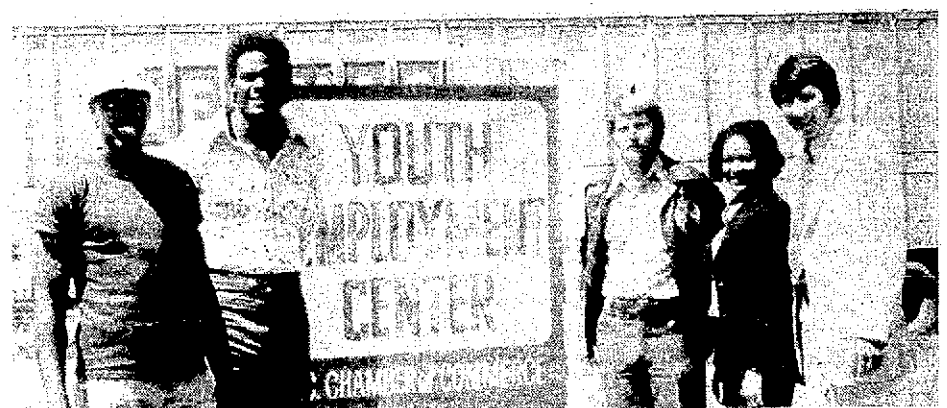

Funds for administration of the center are from the federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA). Wages for workers will be paid by private employers. There are three classifications of summer jobs:

1. Full time private placement sector for young people between the ages of 14 and 21 by business and industry.

2. Farm employment of young people to harvest crops. A crew supervisor will be provided for groups of five or more.

3. Rent-a-youth program for jobs on a day-to-day basis. Included are babysitting, lawn mowing, cleaning, typists, and newspaper carrier substitutes.

Tom Norbey, a teacher at Upton junior high school, St. Joseph, will be in charge of all summer youth employment programs for the private sector. Any business or industry desiring help from young people may call him at 925-7886. Norbey will screen qualified youths for full time and part time summer employment. Mrs. Evelyn Bettison will again be in charge of rent-a-youth and may be called for teens to help with small domestic jobs. The number for rent-a-youth is 925-7972. Farmers or growers may call 925-7886 for help.

supervise young people who work on farms; Tom Norbey, who will be in charge of all employment for the private sector; Evelyn Bettison, rent-a-youth; and Wayne Ransbottom, the Chamber's director of the summer youth program.

Drop Charge Against Ex-Officer

Berrien Prosecutor John Smietanka announced today that he has asked for dismissal of a felony charge pending against Thomas G. Dipert, former Niles City patrolman.

Dipert was indicted by the citizens' grand jury and charged with larceny in a building in connection with alleged thefts of a shotgun and two sleeping bags from the John R. Lutes Co., Inc., 14003 Chicago road, Niles. Smietanka said the charge will be dismissed because prosecution witnesses can't specify the exact date of the offense and because "the extent of Dipert's alleged involvement indicated that in the interests of fairness, no further proceedings would be taken against him in this matter."

Further, the prosecutor said Dipert is no longer a police officer and the facts of the case indicate Dipert did not benefit directly from any alleged crimes.

At Dipert's Berrien district court preliminary hearing last July, former Niles City Patrolman Myron Olson testified under immunity that he and Dipert entered the store in September of 1973. Olson said he took a shotgun while Dipert took some sleeping bags.

The case against Dipert was in the pre-trial motion stage in Berrien Circuit court. The prosecutor's office indicated that a Circuit court judge will routinely dismiss the case.

In another grand jury case that involved a former Niles City patrolman, the prosecution will attempt to reinstate a perjury charge against Alan DeLee. Asst. Prosecutor Quentin Fulcher said the perjury charge was dismissed by Berrien Circuit Judge Julian Hughes in May. Hughes said the exact date that DeLee allegedly entered a building in Niles must be known before it can be shown that DeLee later lied to the grand jury when he said he'd never entered the store.

Fulcher said he will submit a bill of particulars to the court next Monday, in an effort to get the charge reinstated.

Plan Workshop For Nurses

Registrations are now being taken by phone at the Michigan State university continuing education center, 777 Riverview drive, Benton Harbor, for a one-day workshop for registered nurses on the topic of "Patient Discharge."

The workshop will be held Monday, June 27, from 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. Fee is $25 per person. MSU continuing education service will award 7 continuing education units for full participation in this program.

Educating a patient for discharge is an ever present need. The one-day conference is designed for any registered nurse who wishes to know more about preparing the patient, the family, and the community for the patient's discharge.

The program will review the basic elements of discharge planning, and emphasize selected techniques nurses can use to facilitate this discharge process. Since the cardiac patient is of much interest today, the Greater Lansing Heart Education program will be reviewed as an example of discharge planning. Participants will also have an opportunity to evaluate a patient-case situation and develop an appropriate discharge plan.

At the conclusion of this program the participant will be able to describe the basic elements of discharge planning including why, who, and when; explain the responsibilities of the nurse regarding discharge planning during the three stages of illness (acute, convalescent, post-hospital); describe three new techniques involving the cooperation efforts of nurse-patient-family-community for patient discharge, and evaluate a patient case situation and develop an appropriate discharge plan.

Help Preschoolers Learn To Read

Preschoolers can learn to read more easily than they can learn to talk, although most parents don't know it, says educator Herbert Kohl in the June 28 issue of "Family Circle."

In fact, continues the author of "36 Children" and "Reading, How To," most children by age four have already begun to teach themselves. Parents often express surprise when they hear this, he says, but at an early age "children... in some way try... to make meaning out of written symbols and to connect them with sounds."

One method Kohl suggests for determining what a child has already taught himself involves letting children choose the books they want to read to them. Ask your child to hand books to you and tell you where to begin. Find out if he or she knows which way the print runs, which way the pages turn and where the front and back of the book are.

Many parents will discover, says Kohl, that their children have already mastered the skills indicating reading skill.

To promote this wholesome environment, Kohl suggests several "breakfast table" games that use the household products children see everyday in the kitchen and bathroom — the toothpaste tube, the milk carton, the cereal box.

To play one game described in the article: Just before bath time or at breakfast, lay out various household products. Ask your child to point out a certain product, such as milk. Even if the child doesn't know letters, he usually knows which one is the milk container. Kohl then suggests allowing the children four guesses to choose the word that spells "milk." Finally, hold the child's finger under each letter as you spell out the word. Then move on to the next word.

In addition to playing reading games, Kohl advises parents to read to their children every day and keep plenty of pencils and paper around to encourage letter and word copying. Says Kohl, "There are no problem readers; there are only poorly taught children."

Father's Day Began In 1910

A baby gurgles happily in his high chair, his mother busy with the noon-day dishes. Now, the mother's face is softly glowing with a kind of radiance, born of excitement and satisfaction. She has an idea. An idea, that in less than a generation was to become a now celebrated American institution.

Always deeply reverent and devoutly grateful to her father, she yearned to express her devotion in some greater way. So, why not a "Father's Day?" It could be a day to honor not only her father, but all American fathers for their dedication to the ideal of a life pattern, unique to the United States, and reflective of the pioneer spirit.

That was in 1909. But it was another year before Mrs. John Bruce Dodd's inspiration would bear fruit as the first Father's Day — in Spokane, Wash. The year of the first Father's Day was 1910.

Father's Day would be a spontaneous expression of love, devotion and gratitude of one daughter to her father for what he did for his motherless family. And it would be the beginning of my long crusade to fill a need, says Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, whose idea Father's Day was, "to recognize father's unique role in the home — to discipline, to encourage moral understanding, to protect the sanctity of the family — all embodied in the undertaking of the marriage vow."

Mrs. Dodd took her idea to her own minister, and through him, to the Spokane Ministerial Association. Her original concept, embodied in a letter to the Ministerial Association, won its quick approval. She described the love and sacrifices of her father, William Smart, a Civil War veteran, raising his family of six on a frontier farm in eastern Washington. But she was addressing her message to the role of all fathers, who helped shape the destiny of the United States in those pioneering days of the early twentieth century.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Spokane supplied the ingredients of support, and the momentum that led to the first Father's Day in 1910, when Spokane set aside a day to "Honor Thy Father."

William Jennings Bryan, the great populist, was one of the first national leaders to understand and formally endorse the embryonic Father's Day movement, saying "Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the relationship between parent and child," and he warmly complimented Mrs. Dodd on her inspirational idea.

President Wilson, in 1918, had a button pressed in the White House to symbolize the national impact of the growing Father's Day concept.

In 1924, President Coolidge urged the observance of Father's Day on a national scale.

So, although William Smart, Mrs. Dodd's father, died in 1919, it was not before he saw Father's Day become a growing reality throughout the United States. Mrs. Dodd originally planned to have Father's Day celebrated on June 5, her father's birthday. But since there wasn't time that year for the ministers of Spokane to prepare special sermons for the day, the first Father's Day was celebrated the third Sunday of June. So, since 19, Father's Day has been traditionally observed the third Sunday of June, now by Congressional action and Presidential proclamation.

This year marks the 67th consecutive observance of Father's Day on Sunday, June 19.

When Mrs. Dodd celebrated her 90th birthday on Feb. 18, 1972, Gov. Dan Evans of the State of Washington designated the date as "Mrs. John Bruce Dodd Day." Her role in inspiring Father's Day was recognized by wires and letters from eminent American fathers including the President and Senator "Scoop" Jackson, the 1972 Father of the Year. Later that year, on April 24, 1972, the President signed legislation creating a national holiday for Father's Day. This act fulfilled a life-long ambition of Mrs. Dodd.

Mrs. Dodd is now 95, and still living in Spokane. Her concept of honoring all American fathers has now spread beyond the borders of the country and Father's Day is variously observed in more than 30 nations around the world.

The red rose is the official flower of Father's Day in living tribute. The white rose is the flower of remembrance, both selected by Mrs. Dodd.

Mrs. Dodd, now retired, was an active business woman, the wife of a life insurance executive, who died in 1945; and the mother of one son, John Bruce Dodd Jr., retired from the National Park Service.

Walk Off Calories

NEW YORK (AP) — Take up walking to keep your own figure, the Diet Workshop advises brides, citing figures from the Committee on Exercise and Physical Fitness of the American Medical Association.

If you eat only 96 extra calories (about two chocolate cream-filled cookies) more per day than you burn up, you can expect to be 50 pounds heavier by your fifth anniversary.

But just 25 minutes of walking a day will keep you at your wedding day weight, the workshop points out.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Wives Care--Mates Don't

Dear Readers: Well, I've done it again -- incurred the wrath of nearly every wife in the United States, Canada, Tokyo, Bangkok, Mexico City, Puerto Rico, Nassau, and Bermuda. I even got a nasty letter from Guadalajara.

I wrote in a recent column: "Show me a married man who looks like a refugee from a rummage sale and I'll show you a wife who doesn't care about him."

The most articulate letters could not be cleaned up for publication, but here are samples of the printables:

Dear Ann: I'd like to wring your neck. Why should a wife be responsible for her husband's wardrobe? I wash the car, put on screens, mow the lawn, and paint the basement. There's no such thing as a woman's job or a man's job any more. Work doesn't care who does it. Retire already! -- Marshalltown, Iowa

Dear Ann: I know my husband looks godawful when we go out but I can't help it. He rolls up his sleeves and puffs buttons -- forces his favorite wide belt through loops that are too small -- refuses to cut his toenails and his socks are torn after two wearings. If you want to know what he had for lunch or dinner just look at his tie. You'll find samples of everything. He's a nice guy and I DO care about him but he is also a slob and that's HIS problem. -- Suffering in Manhattan

Dear Ann: Do you know any husbands who take care of their wife's clothes? Join the 20th century, Kiddo. -- Spring Red And I Don't Mean Buttons

Dear Ann: My jerk has a dozen good suits in the closet, but he goes to church in polyester slacks and a polka-dot shirt with a striped tie. I've given up. -- Augusta

Dear Ann: If a woman looks sloppy, she "let herself go." If it's a man, "His wife doesn't care about him." You're nuts. -- Memphis

Dear Ann: Sorry, dear, you goofed and you're going to hear plenty. My husband is a honey and I love him, but he doesn't give a damn about how he looks. If the invitation says "informal" he'll show up in sandals, no socks, a T-shirt and Bermuda shorts in the winter. Last week he went to a barbecue in khakis from World War II. They were plenty tight and I warned him. Well, he split right out the back and had to borrow the host's bathrobe. Everyone roared. I couldn't have cared less. -- Columbia, S.C.

Dear Ann: I gave up trying to dress my husband after ten years of screaming and hair-pulling. Today I'm relaxed and my blood pressure is down. He still has ink spots on all his shirts from pens that leak. Every pocket is ripped from being overloaded. He lost two coats last winter and there are five lovely gloves in the shelf

-- all for the left hand. It's not fair of you to say I don't care about him. I care a lot but he's a slob. -- St. Cloud, Minn.

Dear Ann: I have four young children who take better care of their clothes than their father. He goes hiking in the woods in a $300 suit -- tears his pants on fences, ruins his $70 shoes walking in the mud, and stuffs a $35 tie in his back pocket. Don't blame me. I didn't raise him. -- Pattersonville, N.J.

Dear Ann: Show me a man who looks like a refugee from a rummage sale and I'll show you a man who doesn't care about HIMSELF or his wife's feelings. I married one -- so eat your words, Annabelle. -- Kentucky Broul

Dear K: And all who wrote: GULP... GULP... GULP.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious -- lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60661.

Experts Dispell Beauty Myths

NEW YORK -- Does smiling cause wrinkles? No! Aging and overexposure to the sun cause wrinkles.

"The skin is very elastic. If it weren't, it would break and not return to its natural form after a laugh or frown," explains Dr. Robert Auerbach, associate professor of dermatology at New York University Medical Center, in the June issue of "Seventeen" magazine.

Among 24 other beauty, body and diet myths dispelled by nutritionists, physicians and beauty experts are:

-- Cutting hair makes it grow faster. Cutting hair makes it shorter, that's all. According to Dr. Auerbach, "Nothing can be done to hair, a dead structure, that would affect the follicle, the living thing from which it grows."

-- Reading in the dark ruins your eyes. Dim light has no effect on eyesight. Dr. Emily Karp, assistant professor of ophthalmology at Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn, says, "The only reason for not reading in the dark is that you can't see properly."

-- Everyone outgrows baby fat. "There is no such thing as baby fat," claims Dr. Laurence Morchouse, a Los Angeles physical fitness expert. "Fat is fat. You can outgrow your obese phase at any age by dieting and exercising so that your body type changes from fat to muscular."

-- Natural vitamins are better than synthetic ones. Natural vitamins are more costly than

A tennis court in Plains, Ga., into town every Tuesday and watch them change trusses in the drugstore window. Then one day, a city slicker came out and eyed a patch of ground behind the hardware store. He said, "Mothers of Centerville... do your children come in whining every afternoon. There's nothing to do? Are you so out-of-shape you need a seat belt for each knee? Is your husband dying of terminal paleness? Do you want to believe that the family that plays together gets their own TV series? Well, Centerville needs a tennis court and you're gonna get it today."

The rest is history. Centerville got its tennis court and was never the same again. Brother turned against brother. ("You creep! If it was on the line don't you think I'd have said so?") Mother turned against daughter. ("Get serious. Are you considering dating a boy who isn't even seeded? What is everyone going to think?")

Neighbor turned against neighbor. ("Look, Fred, you and Velma are our very best friends, but you foot-fault one more time and we're going to call it.")

Husband turned against wife. ("I am not coming to bed until you say my second serve in the first game of the third set was IN!")

Families turned against families. ("I don't care if she IS my sister. I can't invite a B player to an A dinner party.")

The town was literally ripped apart. Grass didn't get cut, the livestock didn't get fed, the library was as quiet as a tomb, and the clerics sat around and prayed for rain -- in between sets.

The tranquility of the peaceful little community was shattered by shouts of "A little help there, Buddy. Look, turkey, I returned all of your wild balls, now the least you can do is..." and "You know what we have here? We have a sleazy tennis player who signs up for the court using three different names so he can hog it all Saturday morning. There's ways of dealing..."

I hope the good people of Plains, Ga., heed the tolltale signs of corruption before it is too late. Are tourists passing by the Carter homestead and asking, "Did Bud Collins really broadcast from here?" Is Billy Carter wearing a sweat band? If so, the first time someone cracks a peanut in their teeth at set point... the whole town could boil!

Jim: "That is too simple. These writers must have set a trap for you. Can you find the trap?"

Oswald: "The trap wasn't really set for us, but it is there for the unsuspecting reader. Suppose clubs break 3-0. Then when declarer plays clubs he will have to win the third in dummy and the eight or nine will block the suit."

Jim: "South can guard against this by ducking the first spade and the second spade. Then he will be able to chuck a club on the ace of spades. Or if West shifts South can duck a spade on his own and still get ready for that discard."

I'm a little past 55. I recently became a widower and my life has been in a turmoil. I feel that I could use the help of a psychologist. Whenever I suggest it to my children they embarrass me by insisting that I'm too old to get started on such a thing. What is your opinion? -- Mr. G.R.T., Mass.

Dear Mr. T.: There is no age in which one cannot derive benefit from some form of psychological guidance. When you confronted the situation and came to the conclusion that you needed some form of psychotherapy, you made a courageous step in the right direction.

Those who are advising you are apparently doing so without the background or knowledge that qualifies them to make such a judgment.

It is true that some psychoanalysts believe that intensive psychoanalysis should be reserved for younger persons. This is probably not what you're seeking.

There are many variations of psychotherapy that might be extremely beneficial and can open horizons of happiness for you. An appraisal of your emotional health, with subsequent guidance, will probably eliminate much of the tension and confusion that now exists.

Many people your age who are overwhelmed by the impact of the loss of a loved one are able to find emotional compensation with the direction and help of competent specialists in the field of psychology or psychiatry.

By all means, follow your own instinct and seek such help after openly discussing your problem with your own doctor. He is in the best position to recommend the person who can help you.

Sometimes, when the smog and pollution are heavy in the city I can barely function. I'm made to feel at the office that I'm acting like a prima donna when I beg my co-workers not to smoke when they're near me. Can you explain for them why this is so uncomfortable for me? -- Miss J.E., Calif.

Dear Miss E.: A great deal of scientific information is now being accumulated about the relationship between high levels of pollution, mental depression and extreme fatigue.

Very recently it was found that large concentrations of hydrogen sulfide, an air pollutant, can cause blurring of the vision, dizziness, mental depression and anxiety.

Add to this the concentration of tobacco smoke and it must be readily understood why you are so uncomfortable and your productivity limited.

Tony Awards Led By 'Annie'

By MARY CAMPBELL
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A musical based on a comic strip of another era and plays about a gentle poet of another century and a divisive war of another decade were winners at the 31st annual Tony Awards for excellence on Broadway.

Julie Harris, who portrayed the reclusive poet Emily Dickinson in her limited-run one-woman show "The Belle of Amherst," won her fifth Tony as best actress.

Al Pacino, known best for his movie roles in "Serpico" and "The Godfather," returned to Broadway playing the title role in a Theater Company of Boston revival of "The Basic Training of Pavlo Hummel" and won as best actor in the Vietnam War play.

But "Annie," the musical built around the story of "Little Orphan Annie," was the big winner, taking the Tony in seven of the 19 categories at Sunday night's nationally televised presentation at the Shubert Theater. The string of awards for "Annie" showed why it is already the hottest ticket in town.

Thomas Meehan, in accepting his Tony for best book of a musical, said that when lyricist Martin Charnin phoned him with the idea for a musical based on the comic strip, "I thought it was the worst idea I'd ever heard." Charnin and composer Charles Strouse picked up Tonys for best score.

"Annie" producer Mike Nichols accepted the Tony for best musical. Comedienne-singer Dorothy Loudon, who runs the orphanage, won as best actress in a musical. Peter Gennaro won for his choreography. David Mitchell for his "Annie" scenery.

"Annie" designer Theoni Aldredge tied with Santo Loquasto, who did costumes for "The Cherry Orchard," as best designer.

Barry Bostwick won as best actor in a musical for his title role in "The Robber Bridegroom," a rustic caper which opened in October and closed in February.

"The Shadow Box," a drama about death that recently won the Pulitzer Prize for author Michael Cristofer, was named best play. "Shadow Box" director Gordon Davidson won a Tony. He also accepted a special Tony for the Center Theater Group at the Mark Taper Forum in Los Angeles, which he heads.

Tonys for best featured performers in plays went to Jonathan Pryce for "Comedians," which opened in November and closed in April, and Trazana Beverly, one of seven young women in "For Colored Girls Who Have Considered Suicide When the Rainbow Is Out."

Tonys for best featured performers in musicals went to gospel singer Dolores Hall, in the modern Passion Play, "Your Arms Too Short To Box With God," and Lenny Baker, in "I Love My Wife." Director Gene Saks also earned a Tony for that romp.

A new Tony, for innovative production of a revival, went to the Houston Grand Opera's "Porgy and Bess," on Broadway from September to January. Jennifer Tipton was named best lighting designer for the limited-run "The Cherry Orchard."

Tony nominations were voted on by 486 members of the theatrical profession. The Lawrence Langner Award for lifetime achievement was given to producer Cheryl Crawford.

MSU Students End 36-Hour Sit-In Against Iranian Films

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A weekend protest at Michigan State University ended Sunday as it had begun 36 hours earlier — peacefully.

"There was no destruction," said campus policeman William Wardwell, after the students ended a 36-hour sit-in at the MSU International Center building.

"In fact I understand it's cleaner than when they entered," he added.

The protest was directed against a decision by the school's Board of Trustees to continue production of a series of documentary films for Iran.

The demonstrators left the center Sunday afternoon and marched to the home of MSU President Clifton Wharton where a list of demands were posted on the front door.

Campus police said Wharton and his wife were in Massachusetts Sunday, where the MSU President was to deliver a commencement address at a boarding school.

"It's pointless to stay here indefinitely," said group spokesperson Jennifer Davis, shortly before the demonstrators left the center.

Ms. Davis said the protestors felt they had accomplished their objective of calling attention to the controversy surrounding the film project.

The group, including both American and Iranian students, contend the film amounts to propaganda for the Shah of Iran, whose regime they oppose.

Campus police were called to the International Center Saturday, after about 55 demonstrators barricaded building entrances. Police entered the building shortly after noon and removed the barricades. The protestors did not interfere and there were no arrests.

Associated Press Writer
MIAMI (AP) — His business card reads "Ex-Sgt. Leonard Matlovich." It's the "ex" that tells his story.

Two years ago, Matlovich was an Air Force sergeant with 12 years of service and three tours of Vietnam behind him. Now a part-time resident of Miami, he's a leader of the Dade County Coalition for Human Rights, which is fighting to keep a homosexual rights law on the books.

The law, enacted this past January, will be voted on in a special election on Tuesday. It prohibits housing and employment discrimination based on sexual preference.

Matlovich, 33, gained national publicity in 1975 when he told the Air Force that he was a homosexual. His picture was on the cover of both Time and Newsweek magazines. The publicity died down, but he is still fighting his discharge under the military's ban on homosexuals. The case is pending in the U.S. Court of Appeals.

"Roads could open up that are closed today," he said of his struggle.

Matlovich, who had said during the initial stages of his battle that he felt uncomfortable in the role of a symbol for gay liberation and wanted only to be permitted to stay in the Air Force, has spent the last two years speaking out on gay rights before heterosexual groups around the nation.

"As long as there is human suffering, I'll be in the middle of the fight," said Matlovich, who divides his time between Washington and Miami.

His "coming out" radically changed his life, said Matlovich, the son of an Air Force sergeant.

"But I have no regrets. My family was shocked at first, but now we're closer than ever. Before, I could only share part of my life and nature with them. Now I'm sharing fully."

Tuesday's county-wide referendum became necessary after a group led by singer Anita Bryant rounded up enough petition signatures to force the county commission to either strike the law or put it to a vote. The commission chose the election, triggering a campaign of bumper stickers and sloganized T-shirts.

Opponents of the law include many religious leaders, including the Roman Catholic church. Backers of the law call it a human rights issue and have received support from a mixture of prominent psychiatrists and celebrities.

"I was raised in an environment of people like Anita Bryant," Matlovich said. "Because of that, I had a distorted image of myself. I don't want others to grow up with that, too."

So Matlovich continues to speak out.

"Someday," he said, "we'll win."

Women Find Ads 'Insulting'

DETROIT (AP) — A woman doesn't have to be an ardent feminist to feel insulted by television commercials, according to an advertising executive.

Despite talk of liberation, women in TV ads still are shown squeezing toilet tissue, hatching dimwitted schemes to catch a man with toothpaste or getting hysterical over dirty collars.

James Nelson, president of the San Francisco advertising agency of Hofer, Dieterich & Brown, told a group of Detroit advertising executives recently that many large advertisers remain "persistently insensitive" to women.

The charge grows out of Nelson's experience as member of a special panel of the National Advertising Review Board, which conducted an 18-month study of the subject.

"It didn't surprise us to learn that there was plenty of criticism and resentment among women toward much advertising," he said. "But it did surprise us that the difference in attitude between outspoken feminists on one hand and the very conservative woman on the other was very small."

The advertising world's degradation of women, Nelson said, may have reached its peak in Geritol's "American Gothic" commercial.

In the commercial, a man, his arm draped over his wife, tells the world how pleased he is that the old gal still lives up to his standards.

The commercial hints that because the wife takes Geritol, it won't be necessary for the husband to trade her in on a younger model.

Nelson said the NARB study concluded that advertising has the responsibility "to be truthful, accurate and fair, not only in presentation of products and services, but in the presentation of men and women."

To do otherwise, the board said, would be bad business because it is "counterproductive to try and sell a product to someone who feels insulted by the product's advertising."

Nelson's solution is simple. When an advertising executive is asked to approve a commercial with a woman in it, he should picture his daughter in the commercial.

"Does it show a woman standing by her washer with a shirt that is now miraculously clean, smiling in relief as her husband — who was pretty sore about the dirty collar — rewards her with a kiss?" he asked.

"Is that your daughter? Are you happy with her role in life, her obsession with cleanliness, her fear, her submissiveness, her joy when her master finally approves the whiteness of her wash?"

"If that's your daughter, go ahead and approve the spot," says Nelson.

Foes Gird For Tuesday Balloting

MIAMI (AP) — Sunday's sermon was full of old-time references to the sin of Sodom and Gomorrah but it had a more up-to-date slant: Vote to repeal Dade County's homosexual rights law.

"I wake up in the middle of the night with the thought 'Vote for the Repeal,'" the Rev. William Chapman told his Baptist congregation, which includes among its members singer Anita Bryant, who has spearheaded the drive against the law.

"I do not believe that you will ever have cast a vote with greater significance," Chapman said.

Voters decide on Tuesday whether to repeal the controversial law, which prohibits housing and employment discrimination based on sexual preference.

Miss Bryant, who was not in church Sunday because of an out-of-town trip, helped start Save Our Children Inc., an organization which claims homosexuals recruit children. She says she opposes the law because private schools in the county could not prevent homosexuals from teaching her children.

The campaign on both sides of the gay rights issue intensified for the last remaining days before the vote, with television and newspaper advertising, telephone banks and religious involvement.

The Archbishop of Miami's Roman Catholic diocese asked its priests to read a letter from the pulpit advising churchgoers to vote to repeal the law.

A coalition of gay organizations called registered voters urging them to vote in favor of the law.

In its Monday edition, The Miami Herald ran more than six full-page ads supporting either side of the issue.

Invalid Skyjacker Thwarted

KUWAIT (AP) — Kuwaiti troops dressed as mechanics overpowered a Lebanese man in a wheelchair who hijacked a Lebanese jetliner with 112 other persons aboard and demanded $1.5 million, airport sources reported.

The 101 other passengers and 11 crew members were unharmed.

The hijacker was identified as Nasser Mohammed Ali Abu Khaled, 28, from the northern Lebanese village of Kubaieh. One of the other passengers said he told them:

"I am a sick man and I am forced to do this. I need the money."

Abu Khaled had been carried aboard the plane in Beirut in his wheelchair. Officials at the Beirut airport said he was not given the usual security search because he was an invalid.

Radio Kuwait said Abu Khaled was being questioned by security officials and by the Lebanese and Iraqi ambassadors.

The airliner, a Boeing 707 operated by Lebanon's Middle East Airways, was nearing the end of a flight from Beirut to Baghdad, Iraq, on Sunday when Abu Khaled wheeled his chair down the aisle, held a small pistol on the pilot and demanded to be flown to Kuwait, passenger Kamel Dawi reported.

Young: Russ Government Is Deaf To Rights Critics

By SERGE SCHENEMANN
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Andrew Young says it's time to "let up" on criticism of the Soviet government's human rights policies because he doubts that complaining does any good.

"Frankly, I've said almost nothing about Soviet dissidents because I don't know that it helps anything," the Carter administration's ambassador to the United Nations said in a interview in the July issue of Playboy magazine.

"I don't think the Soviet government is, in fact, very concerned about its dissidents," said Young. "Of far more importance are its satellite countries in eastern Europe. More than President Carter's statements on human rights, Soviet leaders are worried about such things as increases in the budgets of Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty — which they do interpret as real attacks on their system and sphere of influence."

Young said the letter of support President Carter sent to Soviet dissident Andrei Sakharov was "the kind of thing you can do only once, like the (Israeli) raid on Entebbe. You don't try it again. My feeling, in sum, is that it's time to let up on the Soviet Union in this respect."

The Soviet human rights movement is a "rebellion by their elite, who have tasted a little freedom and want more," said Young, who is black. "As they advance economically and culturally, the Soviet Union is going to have a human rights explosion that will be not unlike our civil rights movement ... You'll have literally hundreds of thousands of dissidents rather than a few hundred."

Young accused the press of misinterpreting him, likened President Idi Amin of Uganda to Hitler, called former Presidents Nixon and Ford racists because they "had no understanding of the problems of colored peoples anywhere" and said previous Soviet-American arms talks have "all been cosmetic ... It was the Russians and the Nixon administration conspiring to deceive the American people."

"The Nixon administration bent over backward for the Russians," Young continued, "and, in a sense, it sold out to the Soviet Union. The Nixon Administration gave away wheat. This administration is going to sell wheat. And I think the President has decided he's not going to play disarmament games. Either we'll have a real ceiling on the arms race and serious arms reductions or we'll realize the Russians are not willing to do that."

Young again defended his statement that the Cubans in Angola were a "stabilizing influence." He said he condemns the Cuban military presence, but Cuban technical assistance can be a force for stability.

"It's ridiculous for the strongest nation in the world to panic every time it hears 1,000 Cubans have gone somewhere," he said. "A thousand Cubans or 20,000 Cubans or even 100,000 Cubans anywhere are no threat to the United States of America. There's nothing the Cubans can do that we cannot thwart."

STARTED BY RONALD McDONALD: Participants in bike-a-thon Saturday raised about $7,000 for benefit of Easter Seal society, according to Rae German, chairman of event. These bicyclists got their official start at Upton junior high, St. Joseph, from Ronald McDonald, the hamburger clown. German said 52 riders participated. Leading pledge-getter was Don McGreehan, representing New Buffalo Lions club, with over $1,000, followed by Atty. Gary Hosbein, St. Joseph, $800, and Jeffrey Butzbach, Stevensville, $500. State Woman Finds Going Rough At AF Academy

DETROIT (AP) — "I'm tired. I need a rest. I don't know if I want to become an upper classman," Marjorie Glazier of Romulus said during a recent visit home from the Air Force Academy.

She's one of the 11 Michigan women who enrolled in a service academy last summer — the first time such admissions were allowed. Only two of the Michigan women have dropped out, but Cadet Glazier is thinking about it.

"It's easier coping with the physical stuff and academics than the capricious manner upperclassmen mete out punishment for breaking a rule," she said. "I'm looking forward to the new term in September," said West Point Cadet Cheryl Ann Swartz of Saginaw. "However, I'm looking forward to it with hesitation."

Her hesitation is based on warnings from the upperclass cadets that coping with academy life gets "harder each year, not easier."

The lifestyle is far different than that which most of the women knew before they entered the academies.

A major adjustment for Cadet Glazier has been going from an A-minus high school grade average to a C average at the academy.

"I was really bombed out on last week's final exams," she said. "They were more like exercises in the teachers' imagination."

The other Michigan women at West Point are Priscilla Walker of Detroit, Bobbie Fiedler of East Lansing, Jennifer Howard of Birmingham, Ann Hughes of Garden City, Barbara Reharme of Livonia, Vicki Martin of Fenton, and Mary Rosinski of St. Joseph.

Cadets Swartz and Walker agree that male cadets have accepted women "for the most part." The only hostility that remains, they say, is in companies which have no women.

Dutch Pessimistic Despite Release Of Two Hostages

ASSEN, The Netherlands (AP) — South Moluccan terrorists have released two pregnant women, but Justice Minister Andreas van Agt says there is no indication that freedom is near for 57 other hostages held in a train and a schoolhouse in northern Holland.

"I don't yet see any reason to be optimistic that it will all soon be over," Van Agt said as the twin sieges went into their third week.

He said a six-hour mediation meeting Saturday between the militants on the train and two leaders of the South Moluccan community made little progress, and a second meeting has not been fixed.

Justice ministry spokeswoman Toos Faber said the terrorists' demands are basically unchanged. They have demanded the release of 21 other South Moluccans imprisoned for terrorist activity and a plane to fly them all out of the country. Another official suggested the Moluccans freed the women to get rid of a "troublesome burden."

CURIOSITY SEEKERS

If you intend to implant a "For Sale by Owner" sign in your front yard, be prepared for the inevitable "curiosity seekers." You'll probably spend more time tramping through the house with curiosity seekers than showing it to firm prospects.

Your "For Sale by Owner" sign leaves you open to all types of people and problems. For example, a visitor may present an offer to buy on which he doesn't intend to follow through. You may make plans based on accepting it, only to learn that the "prospector" had no intention of completing the agreement.

A Realtor has the experience to un-mask the insecure offer and turn it away before it does any harm. In fact, the presence of a Realtor usually will discharge any attempts of that sort. He will qualify prospects in advance and allow only those who are definitely prospective buyers — not curiosity seekers — to inspect your home.

Weather Offers A Witch's Brew

By JERRY KRIEGER
Farm & Features Editor

Jackets and sweaters were the dress of the day in southwestern Michigan as a cool front shoved into the area, bringing with it a mixture of light rain, fog, a brief tornado alert for Berrien and Cass counties, 40-degree temperatures, and a couple of very localized storms.

Rainfall, reported mostly between one-third and one-half inch Sunday morning and early today, brought temporary relief to parched fields and browning lawns.

A long temperature dive stretched from 90 degrees Saturday afternoon to 44 degrees in Benton Harbor this morning. The National Weather Service predicted a low of 40 tonight in this area, and called for patchy frost over the northern half of the lower peninsula of Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

The arrival of the cold front brought with it a tornado alert for Berrien, Cass, St. Joseph and Calhoun counties in Michigan between 3:15 and 4:33 a.m. today. There were no reports, however, of any tornadoes developing in the state. Wisconsin and Indiana were the scene of several tornadoes Sunday that did little reported damage.

Winds that buffeted parts of northern Berrien county and much of Van Buren county early Sunday morning blew down trees at scattered locations. A falling tree punctured the roof and the bedroom and dining room ceilings at the home of Mrs. Elinor Martin, 5511 Lakewood drive, Coloma township.

Another tree hit the Louis Jones home in Bangor, causing light damage to the structure. Lightning was blamed for an early Sunday fire that destroyed a large building near Breedsville in northern Van Buren county.

Damage to the mobile home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Eisen, North Watervliet road, Watervliet, was estimated at $3,500 after lightning struck the home shortly after 1 a.m. today. Fire in the flooring was extinguished by the Watervliet fire department. Eisen was overcome by smoke, but he refused medical treatment.

Bilandic Victory Expected

CHICAGO (AP) — Acting Mayor Michael Bilandic is expected to score a lopsided victory when Chicago voters choose a successor to fill out the term of the late Richard J. Daley. Republican candidate Dennis Block, the only alderman from his party in the City Council, said at least 800,000 votes must be cast if he is to have a chance. But Democratic leaders predicted the turnout in Tuesday's election would be less than the 697,000 who voted in 1975 when Daley won his sixth term as mayor. Bilandic, 54, was a three-term Democratic alderman from Daley's 11th ward when the City Council named him acting mayor after Daley died of a heart attack last December. The winner will fill Daley's unexpired term, which runs until April 1979.

FDA 'Roadblock' Blasted

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Idaho congressman who thinks Laetrile should be legalized charges that such drugs as penicillin and aspirin would never get through the Food and Drug Administration's approval process. "The FDA is a formidable roadblock, and it is causing a drug lag in the United States. In effect, the FDA is often hazardous to our health," said Rep. Steven D. Symms, D-Idaho, who has introduced legislation that would strip the FDA of its power to judge drugs' efficacy. Symms, in an interview with U.S. News and World Report, said the FDA should judge drugs solely on their safety. "What scares me is that you couldn't get penicillin, insulin, aspirin or digitalis approved today through our FDA bureaucrats," Symms said.

Lone Policemen Better?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long-held belief that police officers work best in pairs is being shot down by a group of researchers. The Police Foundation, a private research organization here, said Sunday it believes police officers are safer and more efficient when working by themselves. The conclusion, based on a year-long study of police officers in San Diego, came at a time when a debate over one-officer versus two-officer patrols has sparked controversy in several major cities. The findings challenged the standard police practice of assigning officers to patrol cars in pairs and the widely-held assumption that this practice reduces the dangers for patrol officers. The report said a police officer working alone actually runs fewer risks than the partners.

Tragic Memories Linger

SOUTHGATE, Ky. (AP) — Grief has been an unwelcome visitor to this town since a fire killed at least 161 people at a supper club over the Memorial Day weekend. The visitor apparently plans to stay for some time. The memories are strong and the case is far from closed. Investigation into the cause of the fire continues, and two of the dead remain unidentified. Four other persons are missing. Kentucky Gov. Julian Carroll and Southgate Mayor Ken Paul joined hundreds of mourners here Sunday in a requiem for those who died in the Beverly Hills Supper Club fire. "I have never in my lifetime been at a place in which my heart has been so broken," recalled Gov. Carroll during a memorial service at a cemetery on a hill overlooking the burned out club.

Order Consumers To Make Refunds

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Consumers Power Co. must refund $1.6 million to its electric customers, the state Public Service commission said today.

For the average homeowner, the refund will be a 41-cent credit on July bills.

The $1.6 million is the amount the company overcharged between April 19 and September 1976 through monthly bill adjustments to help it pay for fuel and power bought from other companies.

In this case, the overcharge occurred when Consumers changed its long-standing assumption that it would eventually be able to reuse uranium consumed in its nuclear plants.

The company decided to assume its used fuel would be worthless. That meant the net cost of the fuel to the company increased, thus boosting monthly charges to customers.

But the PSC said today Consumers can't change its assumptions without letting the commission review the change. It told consumers it could seek such a change in its next major rate case, but in the meantime, consumers can charge customers only the old, lower rate — the rate based on the assumption the fuel could be reused.

Customers will be in for another refund for the same reason in a few months when the PSC reviews Consumers' fuel expenses for the period October 1976 through April 1977.

Predicted

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The Middle East Economic Survey predicted today that Saudi Arabia will raise its oil prices five per cent at the end of the month to protest the lack of progress at the conference of industrial and underdeveloped nations in Paris last week.

again and the man was gone.

In the Buchanan accident, Fee's body was found in about 15 feet of water, some 80 to 75 feet from the Wagner lake shoreline off the Three Brakes campground, according to Larry Caslo, a deputy from the sheriff's Galien substation.

Caslo said the death of Fee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Fee, same address, was ruled a drowning by Dr. John Bruni, deputy Berrien county medical examiner.

Johnie Rodebush, a Cass county commissioner from rural Niles, and Charles Duncan, 19, South Bend, attempted to revive the victim after pulling him from the lake about 8:20 p.m., Caslo said. Both men were on camp outings at the campground, located on the north side of the lake in Buchanan township.

Some 30 minutes earlier, Fee and three companions, including a brother and a cousin, drove up to the campground swimming area. Fee jumped into the lake and began swimming while the other three were still in the auto, Caslo said.

Fee, clad in trousers, called out for help and disappeared, his companions told Caslo. They were identified as his brother Marshall Fee, 17, of the Pucker street drive address; cousin Danny Strough, 14, US-12, Buchanan, and Robert Kidd, 17, Terre Coupe road, Buchanan.

The Fee family had formerly lived in the Dayton lake area near Galien and the victim had attended Galien high school. His father, Archie, is an employee of the city of Buchanan.

Mr. Fee was born Sept. 20, 1958, in Buchanan township.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Fee, Niles; four brothers, Sam, Berrien Springs, LeRoy, Marshall and Archie, all at home; three sisters, Mrs. Shirley Killion, Missouri, Brenda and Wanda, both at home; his grandmother, Mrs. Mae Brand, Niles.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday in the Church of Nazareth, Buchanan.

wouldn't be surprised if we get a dieoff of nuisance proportions in some areas." In past years, Brown has noted that predicting a dieoff "can be tricky" because of the variety of factors that trigger a dieoff.

Anyway, the amount of the fish out in the Great Lakes are "half or less than that" of their numbers in 1967, Brown said. And, whatever number of the tiny fish die this year to float ashore will be "nothing like in '67."

Despite their drop from the record population of a decade ago, Brown noted billions of alewives remain in the lakes. Each year, nearly 60 per cent of them die but most never reach shore to rot and smell.

Burial will be in Oak Ridge cemetery. Friends may call at the Swem-Smith funeral home, Buchanan, after noon Tuesday.

Police Lodge Campaign Tells Kids: 'Don't Go With Strangers'

As summer vacation is about to start, an educational campaign for the safety of elementary school children in Berrien county has been started by Fraternal Order of Police (FOP).

Announcement was by Andrew Novikoff, president of St. Joseph FOP Lodge 96, who said the campaign's slogan is "Kids, Don't Go With Strangers!" He said the local campaign is an extension of one started in eastern Michigan by the state FOP as a result of a series of child killings in the Detroit-Pontiac area.

The program in Berrien involves distribution of a 16-page booklet illustrating the danger of children being picked up by strangers, plus a coloring book warning children to avoid dangerous situations.

FOP members with the cooperation of the Berrien Intermediate school district are distributing the booklets to more than 21,000 children in kindergarten through sixth grade in public and parochial schools, Novikoff said.

Bumper stickers with the message "Kids, Don't Go With Strangers!" also are available at all police departments in the county. FOP lodges and elementary schools.

"While the bumper stickers serve as a constant reminder, the booklets will help parents impress their children with the inherent dangers in going with a stranger," Novikoff said. "We believe these materials really help and if we can save just one youngster's life in Berrien county, we felt our efforts have been worthwhile."

The 16-page booklets are presented as a public service by Whirlpool Corporation in cooperation with the Michigan Fraternal Order of Police. The coloring books are presented by Marathon Oil Co. in cooperation with the FOP, and the state FOP has provided the bumper Novikoff said.

THEY GET THE MESSAGE: Berrien Deputy Sheriff Dean Kugle displays bumper stickers with "Kids, Don't Go With Strangers!" to impress Robbie Krause (left), Simona Gillispie and Debbie Krause. They are children of sheriff's department employees and know better than most the danger of accepting treats or rides from strangers. It's part of Fraternal Order of Police campaign to warn children and parents about child molesters. (Staff photo)

LAKESHORE ZOO PROJECT

Students Adopt A Polar Bear!

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

Lakeshore junior high school students have adopted a pet none of them will be able to keep around their homes.

It's a polar bear.

The 900-plus 6th, 7th and 8th graders earned slightly over $600 this past winter by shoveling snow, baby-sitting, and doing other jobs.

The money was then donated to the Detroit Zoo, under the zoo's fund-raising, animal adoption program. Funds will be used to maintain the zoo and keep it open, according to Virginia Truhn, Lakeshore junior high science teacher and project advisor.

The polar bear, named "Greta" will remain at the zoo, of course, along with two other animals, a monkey and turtle, that Lakeshore junior high has adopted.

James C. SAVOY, D.V.M., director of the zoo, wrote a letter to the students thanking them for their adoption donation, and telling them about their adopted polar bear, Greta. A picture of Greta was also enclosed.

A female, Greta is 30 years old and a grandmother. She is originally from Norway, but was given to the zoo in 1948. Her last cub, "Claudette" born in 1966 is the leading female breeder.

Dr. Savoy's letter said the zoo currently has 12 polar bears on exhibit, including Greta. They are valued at approximately $2,000 each, he wrote.

Dr. Savoy closed by wishing all Lakeshore junior high students "a safe and happy summer vacation," including, perhaps, a trip to the Detroit Zoo to see Greta.

Former WASPs Still Showing Plenty Of Sting

By BILL DALTON
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Wars eventually end. Bombs cease to fall. Artillery is hushed.

But for less than 1,000 women, who pitched in to help win this country's biggest wars, the battle never really ended when the last shot was fired.

That battle — this time in the austere surroundings of Capitol Hill — is brewing once again.

"We're easy to forget ... there weren't too many of us," explains Ann Arbor's Marie Clark, one of those women of war who was a part of a small but daring team of female flyers during WWII — the WASPs — or Women Airforce Service Pilots.

"We don't expect ever to be paid back," snaps spunky 79-year-old Olea Journe Christides, of Marine City, a woman of an earlier war than Mrs. Clark's. One of 200 women who joined the Army Signal Corps during World War I, she handled wartime communications in Gen. Pershing's headquarters in France until the Doughboys came home.

"All we want is some recognition," she says quietly.

The signal today to Congress from women like Mrs. Christides — of which only an estimated 40 to 60 are still alive — is "Give us our GI benefits!"

And there's plenty of sting left in the estimated 850 WASPs still around, also demanding benefits. They logged 60 million miles in military planes training other pilots, ferrying fighter and bomber planes to embarkation points and towing targets for combat pilots in fire at. Thirty-eight of the women were killed while on active duty.

Witnesses supporting government pensions, medical care at Veterans Administration hospitals and low-interest GI loans for the "forgotten women" of WWI and WWII like Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Christides testified recently before the Senate Veterans Affairs Committee and then before the House's VA committee.

As in the case of WWI women, the WASPs "took the same oath, the same orders, were treated like, acted like, dressed like and flew like officers," says Mrs. Clark.

"So it's hard to understand how we could do all those military things, and not be considered part of the military."

But they never were.

Promised military commissions when they signed up, the WASPs were deactivated Dec. 20, 1944, before that ever happened and apparently after they had served their purpose: freeing men for combat duty.

Their termination denied them eligibility for veteran's benefits. During service they were denied equal pay for doing the same jobs as men. They were denied even insurance and death benefits.

"One of our girls was co-pilot in a plane training four men when it crashed into the side of a mountain and they all died. The men all got death benefits and burial. But she didn't get a thing," recalls Mrs. Clark, who was one of 1,074 American women who answered the country's call in 1943 for experienced pilots "because of patriotism ... but also just wanting to fly military equipment."

She still has the ripcord from the parachute she was forced to use during her first military flight when she was thrown out of the cockpit of an AT6 single engine training plane over Las Vegas Army Air Base.

But she also has the silver wings of a pilot and went on to teach numerous military men instrument flying. She also flew tracking missions at gunnery schools for B17 machine gunners to practice their aims, as well as taking up bulky combat P38s on engineering flights to identify mechanical problems.

MARIE CLARK
Few In Number

According to Mrs. Christides, not until the small band of Army Signal Corps women returned from France to the U.S. did they discover they were not officially discharged, but "terminated."

"We were pushed off, it was a surprise. We've been discriminated against all these years," she says, adding, "It's about time they give us women credit for what we did — even if we don't get paid back, at least some recognition."

Mrs. Clark agrees. Although aware some fellow WASPs could enjoy veteran's benefits, she'd be content just knowing her country finally recognized that "we were the first women military pilots."

Mrs. Christides' husband served with the U.S. Treasury Department and receives a government pension.

Mrs. Clark's husband, John, a University of Michigan professor whom she met while training pilots as a WASP, served a full tour of duty as a B17 pilot during WWII.

He too was eligible for government benefits, just as his mother received via a military pension for serving in the Navy during WWI.

State's Farmers Win Compromise On Electric Rate

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's 60,000 or so farmers, upset that their electric bills were going up faster than everybody else's, have won a compromise from the state Public Service Commission.

PSC officials say it should satisfy everybody.

The complaints began last spring when the PSC, which regulates utilities, approved a new scheme for pricing electricity.

Under the plan, Detroit Edison Co. and Consumers Power Co. would encourage energy conservation by charging more for a kilowatt of power if a customer used more than 500 kilowatt hours (kwhs) a month, and even more if he used more than 1,000 kwhs.

The difference in the price amounted to two-tenths of a cent per kwh, which doesn't sound like much.

But farmers were upset because they aren't normal electricity users. While an average family uses 500 kwhs a month, an average dairy farmer with 100 cows uses about 4,000 kwhs, according to Detroit Edison statistics. And that doesn't count power used to heat the farm family's home.

The new scheme cost farmers more money than the plan it replaced, under which they, like other residential customers, paid the same price per kwh no matter how much was used. That system was in effect in 1974-75.

And for some 30 years before that, electricity was cheaper for big energy users. The more you used, the less you paid per unit of power.

The change in the way electricity was priced came at the same time that mechanization of farming was raising utility costs anyway.

"You add it all together and it meant a tremendous increase in the cost of energy for agricultural products," says Bob Smith of the Michigan Farm Bureau. "It was a double or triple whammy, as they say, all in a short time."

Late last month, however, the PSC began fixing the problem. In its Detroit Edison rate decision, it approved a new plan that will let farmers pay less than other users of large amounts of electricity. A similar plan is expected to be approved for Consumers Power customers later this year.

Under the plan, farmers will pay 3.85 cents per kwh for the first 500 kwh, like everyone else. But for every kwh above that, they'll pay 4.15 cents.

Regular families that use more than 1,000 kwh a month will pay 4.45 cents for each additional unit, however.

"The PSC thinks this is an appropriate thing to do for farmers," says Hasso Bhatia of the PSC's rate analysis staff. "They are large users, and there are limitations to how much they can reduce their energy use without hurting their basic operations."

During hearings on the Detroit Edison case, the Michigan Agricultural Conference told the PSC that farmers use 7 per cent more electricity each year. Major users are dairy and poultry farmers.

Don't Let Advertising Mislead You On Arthritis

Dr. Vince Ackerman, D.C., man Chiropractic Center.

"Phone gimmicks and pills have been known to do arthritis out of fortunes and frequently, so-called, 'arthritis drugs' have led to serious health impairments in themselves," says Dr. Ackerman.

What are the early signs?

"I could go on at length," says Dr. Ackerman, "with medical terminology relative to the early signs. However, rather than attempting to confuse, which such advice could do, let me give you a few simple, easily understood signs to watch for:

"If you find that slight blows to your fingers or leg or elbow causes them to stiffen up slightly with some mild pain it's a danger signal.

"For instance, if a father is playing catch with his son and the ball 'bumps' his thumb and the digit stiffens and hurts.

"If you sleep with an arm over your forehead and you find that the shoulder joint is slightly sore in the morning, that's a sign.

"If you feel a grating or popping sensation in your neck when turning your head quickly, that too, is a danger sign.

In other words, Dr. Ackerman cautions that these slight changes in the joint can indicate a system ripe for arthritis attack.

"People who have stiffness or swelling, slight sore and tender spots, all should come in for a check-up. Arthritis is not something you resign yourself to. Any particular case could be effectively treated.

But time is of the essence. "Procrastination is the friend of arthritis," says Dr. Ackerman.

"If you feel you have a potential arthritic problem find out immediately what can be done for it. Your haste could well save you a lifetime of agonizing regret."

DADDY'S BACK!

One at a time they came running in a sun-burst of joy and motion: Lori, 15; Robert, 14; Cynthia, 11; wife, Loretta, and Roger, 12, last but pulling up fast on the field.

Lt. Col. Robert L. Stirn had been a prisoner of war in North Vietnam for more than five years, half of Cynthia's life. And now the reunion, March 17, 1973, at Travis Air Force Base, California.

Stirn was one of 506 POWs sent home from North Vietnam in February and March as a result of the treaty signed in Paris Jan. 18, ending the longest war in American history. In the 12 years of that national agony and frustration, more than 55,000 Americans were killed, many more wounded.

The American pullout was completed on Aug. 15, 1973, when U.S. warplanes ceased bombing throughout Indochina.

Neither the large nor the small story could be said to have a Hollywood ending. While Americans were no longer involved in combat, the war in Vietnam continued at a great cost in blood.

The Stirns? They were divorced one year later, each to marry another.

NATALIE: And now a producer

BY SUZ PUEZNICKI

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — They aren't exactly men on a flying trapeze, but three state employees can often be found towering in the air on scaffolding more than 100 feet high.

The reason: air pollution.

John Shaffer, Keith Phillips and Steve Byrd, Department of Natural Resources employees, test the air quality at smokestacks in factories across the state.

Sometimes the only way to get to the top is climbing a ladder hooked onto scaffolding set up along the side of the stack.

That means hauling several hundred pounds of testing equipment up a ladder surrounded by a protective cage with a cable attached to their over-the-side, but never any man's, Shaffer, the unit chief, explained casually. "The cage is protective, but it's really psychological because if you fall you're still going to bang your self on the head."

If scaffolding isn't permanently attached to the stack, it tends to sway, especially on windy days, the men said.

"One place they had the scaffolding held up by a crane. The crane would move it around to different holes in the stack as we took the tests," recalled Phillips. But the men opted not to ride on the scaffolding while burgers on the top of a sewage sludge incinerator.

Phillips, 28, says: "I used to blame." In 1976, four men repairing a smokestack at Detroit Edison's Monroe plant died to their deaths after a hoisting assembly collapsed. The DNR employees had used the same assembly before the accident.

Shaffer, who has been on the job for seven years, added: "I don't like to fill a paper-pushing stereotype; it's nice to be out in the field, especially in the summertime."

The men get an extra $6-cent-an-hour hazard pay, but Shaffer said the biggest hazard isn't at work—it's home.

"Going up a stack is optional," Shaffer noted. "If it seems extremely dangerous we'll refuse to go up. There have been a few scaffoldings we've refused to touch."

"There's always an initial fear setting day. The problem is once you're climbing a tower and you get tired. Your grip gradually decreases."

Byrd, a department engineer and technician, recalled: "Once

His son is a Benton Harbor high school graduate, and holds a sociology degree from Western Michigan University. Caldwell and his wife, Regina, will live in Cheboygan.

State Income Tax Hike Ogled For Transportation

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An influential lawmaker is pushing for a slight increase in the personal income tax to provide extra money for transportation programs in Michigan.

Rep. William Ryan says the one-tenth of a per cent hike in the income tax is the only apparent means available to produce enough money for road, rail and bus systems. The income tax revenue would be in addition to increased funds provided by proposed hikes in the state gas tax and license plate fees.

Despite the strong opposition to a tax hike from Gov. William Milliken, Ryan says there is general agreement the extra money is needed and nobody has offered another source.

The Detroit Democrat is co-chairman of a special committee made up of lawmakers and various special interest groups related to transportation. The committee is trying to reach a broad agreement on a transit package before giving the job to the legislature to enact.

Several of those involved in the discussions say it is time to put pressure on the interest groups to reconcile their differences and give the ball to the legislature.

"Somebody's got to get them off dead center," said William Long, an aide to Milliken.

The committee has been meeting for months discussing basic issues involved in the complicated matter. Transportation organizations such as bus systems, road commissions and railroads have been asked to detail just how much of an increase in funds they will need.

Milliken, meanwhile, proposed a $145 million transportation program in February, dividing the new money among highways, public transportation, ports and airports.

About the only agreement reached so far is that Milliken is not proposing enough money. Ryan said he is aiming at an increase of $180 million to $200 million a year.

But there is no consensus yet on how to raise the money, how to split it up, whether more money from the highway trust fund should be used for public transportation and a host of other key questions.

Milliken recommended a two-cent a gallon increase in the gas tax, along with a vehicle registration fee based on a car's value instead of weight, to provide the $145 million. And he would lump all transportation money together in a single fund.

Ryan says he favors using Milliken's approach to raise the first $145 million, and increasing the income tax from 4.6 per cent to 4.7 per cent to pull in an additional $42 million a year.

He would use Milliken's program to fund improvements in roads, streets and highways, along with some bus acquisition, thus keeping car-produced revenue away from most public transit as the highway lobby wants. The income tax money would go for railroads and improved bus services.

James Dunn, executive director of the Michigan Public Transit Association, said there is general agreement on Ryan's idea to divide up the money that way.

But he said there appeared little chance for an income tax increase unless the public is well informed on the issue and see it carries benefits for all the state and not just the Detroit area.

And Long said the governor would reject raising the income tax. But he said the administration is studying the argument that "extra money is needed, and how to provide it."

Ryan, however, said talks with lawmakers on both sides of the aisle produced no fresh ideas on how to raise the funds.

"Nobody has come up with any alternative to increasing the income tax to fund public transportation," he said. "Their silence has to be construed to be concurrence."

Ryan said it was possible to pass a bill raising the income tax if all the transportation lobbyists united behind it. And he expressed optimism that mutual need will produce agreement among the various groups wrestling with the problem.

"Every one of these interest groups need money," he said. "I can't see how transportation can progress in this state without us getting a substantial amount of new money."

Proposed Jury Reforms Would Cut Exemptions

By DONALD WOUTAT
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Your friendly neighborhood attorney — or doctor, policeman or fireman — might someday be sitting next to you in the jury box. And you might not be stuck there as long.

The House is due to vote this week on legislation wiping out long-standing exemptions from jury duty for lawyers and others, and to force circuit courts to make jury duty more convenient.

The jury reform bills would eliminate the exemptions after three years, by which time circuit courts would have to implement systems cutting back the amount of time jurors must devote to hearing cases.

The bills have the backing of the State Bar of Michigan, and Chief Justice Thomas Kavanagh of the state Supreme Court has told lawmakers he likes the general idea.

And while critics promise a floor fight, the bills last week slipped quickly past the point where they were most vulnerable to weakening amendments and were positioned for a final vote. If the bills pass, they go to the Senate.

"I don't know what the deal was," said sponsor Rep. Jeffrey Padden, D-Wyandotte, who expected a battle when the bills came up for initial debate. "There are days in the House when practically anything will go through."

The bills survived strong opposition in the House Judiciary Committee, most of it on grounds that what's good for a busy court in Detroit isn't necessarily good for a one-judge rural court.

Padden hopes he defused that issue by a compromise that lets each court come up with its own system, so long as it cuts back the number of trials and length of jury service faced by each citizen and is approved by the Supreme Court.

His original bills would have required all circuit courts to implement a one-day, one-trial system patterned after a highly-acclaimed reform in Wayne County Circuit Court.

The major opponent in debate will be Judiciary Chairman Paul Rosenbaum, D-Battle Creek, who says there's more opposition than anyone realizes. He thinks courts should be free to set their own systems.

"They can do it by themselves," Rosenbaum says. "There's no reason the legislature should shove it down anyone's throat."

The bills would eliminate automatic exemptions for doctors, lawyers, policemen, firemen, pharmacists and others. Those over 70 would be excused on request, and others could apply for exemptions on showing that jury duty would be a hardship.

Hospital Names 2 To Courtesy Staff

DOWAGIAC — A Kalamazoo surgeon and a Dowagiac dentist have been appointed to the courtesy staff at Lee Memorial hospital here, according to John Nusbaum, the hospital's administrator.

Appointed were Khushal D. Patel, M.D., a general surgeon and a specialist in vascular surgery at Borgess hospital in Kalamazoo, and Charles K. Burling, D.D.S., who earned his dental degree at the University of Michigan and has been practicing dentistry in Dowagiac for the past year in association with Dr. Robert Neff.

The Lee Memorial courtesy staff, which now numbers 14, is made up of physicians and surgeons from nearby communities who are available for consultations and referrals through the hospital's active staff of 17 physicians and surgeons. The courtesy staff has limited patient entry rights at Lee Memorial.

Guard, Reservists
Going To Grayling

Over 30,000 National Guardsmen, Army reservists and U.S. Army personnel including some 450 from southwestern Michigan will once again travel to Camp Grayling for annual training this summer.

Yacht Sale
Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two members of Congress have asked Adm. Gen. Griffin Bell to see if the Navy acted legally in selling the former presidential yacht Sequoia. Reps. Philip E. Ruppe, R-Mich., and Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., asked Bell Friday for an advisory opinion on whether the sale may have violated the Historic Preservation Act of 1966. The yacht was sold to Thomas Aquinas Malloy of Providence, R.I., for $266,000 after President Carter said it cost the government more to maintain than it was worth.

Units from Michigan, including National Guard units from St. Joseph, South Haven, Dowagiac and Three Rivers, plus Ohio, Wisconsin and Indiana, will train for two-week periods from from June 11 through Aug. 27.

Units from southwestern Michigan will be at Camp Grayling from July 9-2. Convoys have been scheduled on four-lane highways whenever possible. They will be traveling in groups of 20 or fewer vehicles at about 50 miles per hour. Three to five minute intervals will separate convoys.

KATHY SEIBEL

Decatur's Seibel Captures State Two-Mile

A little sophomore from Decatur came away, as southwestern Michigan's only state track champion in meets held on Saturday.

Kathy Seibel won the Class C girls two-mile in 11:50.5 at St. Louis, near Mt. Pleasant.

The best team finish was a seventh by Covert's boys team in the Class D meet in Lansing.

"After the first 200 yards, Kathy was first and Nora Green (the second place finisher from Shepard) was second," commented Raiders' girls coach Ken Klinkers. "About 300 yards from the finish, Kathy started to open it up a little and the other girl didn't answer."

Seibel knew that she had the best time in the state going into the race.

"Kathy was a little tense after finding out she had the best time," Klinkers said.

Her time was more than 10 seconds slower than the one she had at the Rotary meet which was a new all-time record.

Although Beth Lynn of Edwardsburg finished second in the mile, she smashed the area's all-time mark. The freshman, that's right freshman, ran a 5:23.8 which breaks the old record of 5:27.0 set by Sue Varga in 1976.

Klinkers indicated that Lynn had led most of the race until the last 100 yards or so before being passed and beaten by Keela Yount of DeWitt.

Two other all-time records were set in the girls meets. Deb Lundin of River Valley threw the discus 117-feet, four-inches which breaks the old record of 116-feet, eight and one-half inches set by Jackie Ziebart in 1976. Lundin was seventh in the meet.

State Summaries
On Page 27

116-feet, eight and one-half inches set by Jackie Ziebart in 1976. Lundin was seventh in the meet.

Lakeshore's Janel Root, another sophomore, lowered her own record to 2:20.1 in the 880, but she was eighth in the race. Last season, she toured the oval twice in 2:20.9.

Darlene Wallace of Lake Michigan Catholic had a long jump of 17-feet, eight and one-half inches which is second all-time. Dowagiac's 880 relay team ran a 1:37.5 which was only good enough for 10th in the meet, but is second all-time in the area.

Area boys performers who captured second places included

Tom Jager of Lakeshore (330 low hurdles), Gobles' Chuck Pynn (880), Robert Brown of Covert (440), and Cassopolis' 880 relay.

Seconds in the girl meets were won by Lakeshore's Rhonda Edwards (100). Lynn and Sandy Bammann of Bridgman (mile).

Jager was also third in the 120 high hurdles while Lynn Dickerson of Bloomingdale was third in the mile as was New Buffalo's 880 relay team. Thirds won by the girls included Laurie Schoen of Berrien Springs (220, 440), South Haven's 440 relay, Buchanan's mile relay and Bridgman's 880 relay.

The team champions were Class A Flint Southwestern, Class B Flint Beecher, Class C Detroit Redford St. Mary and Class D Detroit St. Martin DePorres for the boys.

In the girls meets, the titles went to Class A Flint Central, Class B Muskegon Catholic, Class C North Muskegon and Class D Grass Lake.

Holds Off 76er Challenges

Portland NBA Champ!

PORTLAND (AP) — The Pacific Northwest is known for rain and clean air. Now, it's also known for the best basketball played anywhere.

The Portland Trail Blazers, who until this year had never had a winning season, claimed the National Basketball Association title Sunday with a hair-raising 109-107 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers.

"We had a whole lot of fun," grinned Blazer team captain Bill Walton, who was named the series' Most Valuable Player after he scored 20 points, grabbed 23 rebounds and blocked eight shots in the victory. "I feel good all over."

When the buzzer sounded, Walton, who suffered through two injury-plagued seasons and considerable criticism before leading his team to this championship, ripped the No. 32 jersey from his back and hurled it into the crowd.

The Blazers had dropped the first two games of the best-of-seven championship series, then won four in a row to win the title. Sunday's contest was the only game that was close.

Portland led by as many as 15 points, but the Sixers repeatedly challenged the Blazers. They nearly caught them at the finish.

Joe Bryant's two free throws with 51 seconds left sliced the Portland lead to 108-105. Portland's Maurice Lucas sank one of two free throws with 27 seconds to make it a four-point game.

George McGinnis, whose shooting touch returned for the final game, sank a 20-footer to slice the lead to 109-107 with 18 seconds to go. Then McGinnis tied up Portland's Bob Gross and controlled the subsequent jump ball.

The Sixers got three shots in the final eight seconds, but none found its target. The first was by Julius Erving, who led all scorers with 40 points, but his 18-footer bounced off the rim. Lloyd Free grabbed the rebound, but his shot was blocked by Walton.

McGinnis grabbed the ball and fired from 12 feet, but the shot was short. Walton tipped the rebound to Portland's Johnny Davis and the game was over.

The crowd of 12,951 swamped the court in what looked like a scene from a Cecil B. DeMille epic, and the immediate post-game hysteria was tame compared with the celebration that followed downtown. A parade through downtown was planned for noon today.

"The sun was shining in Portland. I thought that was a good omen," said exhausted Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue. "It was a tough game."

The tenseness of the game evaporated in the euphoria of the post-game Portland dressing room, where guard Dave Twardzik jokingly dumped beer down the shorts of Walton and Lionel Hollins as they were being interviewed on television.

Champagne flowed freely and so did compliments.

"I'm a very good friend of everybody on this team," Gross said. "I can say anything I want to any of them. You can't say that about very many teams."

"They play team ball, unselfish ball. They are the embodiment of the best in professional basketball," said champagne-drenched team owner Larry Weinberg.

"These guys have played great all season," said the usually reserved Walton. The big Portland center normally avoids post-game interviews, but he talked at length after the game.

"In my opinion," he said, "they (the Sixers) just because they played a better team. I don't mean to take anything away from them. They're a fine team. I just think they ran into a better one."

"This was one of the best games I've ever played in," Walton said. "A lot of guys played well and it was exciting."

Walton won a new car from Sport Magazine when a panel of writers selected him MVP. Blazer Coach Jack Ramsay couldn't argue with the choice.

"I've never coached a better player. I've never coached a better competitor. I've never coached a better person than Bill Walton," said Ramsay.

While Erving grabbed his usual place in the spotlight by sinking 17 of 29 field goal tries from a variety of angles, Gross — the man who was guarding him — hit 12 of 16 field goal attempts and grabbed five timely offensive rebounds.

Gross wound up with 24 points, tops for the Blazers, and he said after the game that Erving relaxed on defense and became tired because he played nearly the entire game.

"I really don't think he was concentrating on me on defense," Gross said, "and there's no way he can run up and down the court with me for 48 minutes and not get tired."

In the final game, it was the play of Portland's guards — particularly Hollins — and the team's rugged superiority on the backboards that made the difference.

Hollins scored 20 points, including several key baskets in the final quarter. Portland out-rebounded the Sixers, 59-47.

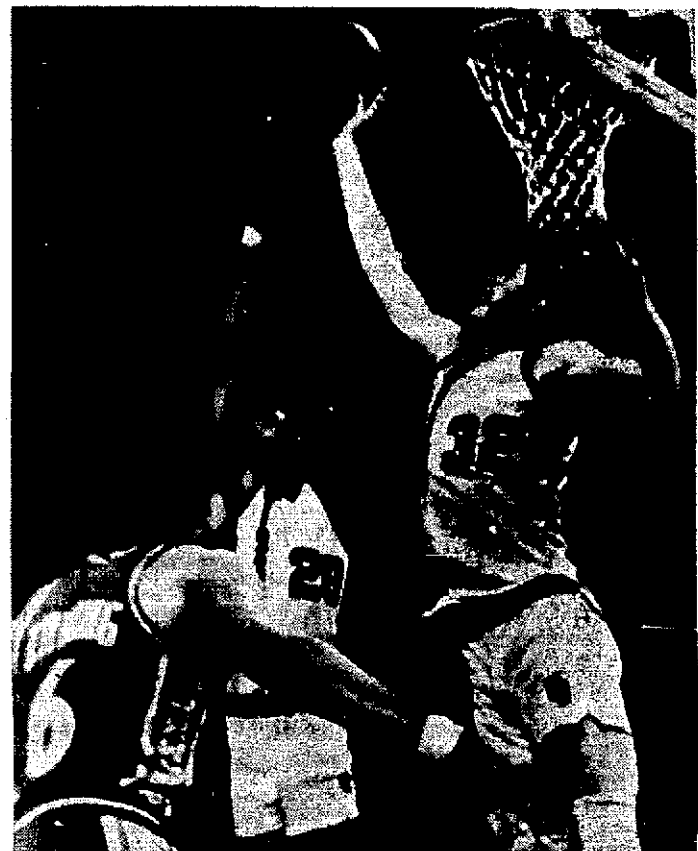

Still, Philadelphia needed just one basket at the end to send the game into overtime. "We almost did it," said McGinnis, who hit 12 of 23 field goal attempts, scored 28 points and grabbed 16 rebounds. "We fought back. It was a great game, a great finish, the best game of the series."

But, he added, "We would have liked to see the guards get more involved."

Philadelphia guard Doug Collins, the team's second-leading scorer through the playoffs, hit just 3-of-9 from the field for six points. Lloyd Free, who came off the bench to replace Collins, was 0-for-8 from the field.

When NBA Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien presented the championship trophy, Ramsay had the entire Portland team come into the interview room to accept it.

"This is the finest team I've ever coached," Ramsay said. "They are the finest people I've ever coached. If we hadn't won it, I'd have felt the same way."

Weiskopf Captures Kemper Tourney

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Experience was the key to his victory in the Kemper Open Golf Tournament, Tom Weiskopf said. A regained putting touch brought him through the multiple-man scramble.

But wife Jeanne deserves a large part of the credit, too.

"I was really down after my disappointing, discouraging finish in the Memorial Tournament in my home town," Weiskopf said Sunday after a final-round 70 had broken a two-year victory drought.

"I just wanted to get away from tournament golf for a while. I hadn't won in two years. I was playing bad. It wasn't any fun. I was confused and angry. I didn't know what to do."

"I just wanted to get away for a while and not play and try to get things worked out."

"My wife told me I was like a rookie trying to win his first one. She told me I had to stick with it. She said I was the only one who could make it happen, and I couldn't make it happen if I wasn't playing."

"So I went on to Atlanta."

He shot a nine-birdie 65 in the last round at Atlanta and, only after that round, decided to play in the Kemper. That decision — and his critical play on the par-five holes — led to a 277 total, 11 under par, his third victory in the Kemper and $50,000 from the total purse of $250,000.

And it prompted him to enter this week's Danny Thomas-Memphis Classic. He filed his entry moments after posting his 12th career victory and only moments before the deadline.

Weiskopf had to birdie the par-five ninth hole to remain in a tie with non-winners George Burns and Bill Rogers halfway through the final round. He took sole control with another birdie on the par-five 10th and locked it up with a one-putt par on the par-five 15th, where Burns made bogey from a fairway bunker. That put Tom three in front with three to play.

Burns and Rogers, both non-winners, each finished with a round of par-72 and a tie for second at 279. Doug Tewell and Lou Graham also wound up with par rounds but finished at 280. Tied at 281 were Craig Stadler, Allen Miller, Hubert Green, Lanny Wadkins, J.C. Snead and Bill Calfee.

The victory put Weiskopf in position for one of 12 spots on the U.S. Ryder Cup team that will meet England's best this fall, but he said even if picked, he would not compete.

Vilas Super French Open Champ

PARIS (AP) — For tennis stars, it's "au revoir" to the clay courts of Paris and on to the green, green grass of England. Wimbledon is two weeks away.

Guillermo Vilas, Argentinean superstar who tore Brian Gottfried to pieces in the final of the French Championships Sunday, immediately became a favorite to challenge Jimmy Connors, Bjorn Borg and Raulo Tanner at Wimbledon.

"I really don't know," Vilas said. "I have not begun to think of Wimbledon. We must wait and see."

"We have said all along that 1978 is to be my year."

By "we," Vilas meant himself and Ion Tiriac, former Romanian Davis Cupper and sometime doubles partner of Ilie Nastase, who manages and coaches Vilas.

Vilas' win over Gottfried on the center court of Roland Garros Stadium, in wind and rain, was the most devastating affair Parisians have seen in years. The elegant left-hander, hitting almost exclusively from his baseline, won 6-0, 6-3, 6-0.

He appeared intent on getting the match over before the weather got worse and halted play. It was all over in a little less than two hours — and that is a short engagement on these courts, where the ball bounces slowly and rallies stretch on.

A month ago Gottfried, from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., managed to win only six games against Vilas in the course of a humiliating Davis Cup defeat.

"I thought he could never play better than that," Gottfried said. "But he did play better in this match."

"I was powerless. Everything I tried, he did something better."

The entry list in Paris was a little below the standard of past years. Many stars, particularly women, were tied up in World Team Tennis, and others preferred to bypass Paris and prepare for Wimbledon elsewhere.

Yet a total of 162,002 people watched the two-week tournament, an increase of nearly 30,000 over last year.

Vilas won a first prize of $18,000. He won the Masters Tournament in 1974, but this was his first success in one of the traditional Big Five international championships. He had previously lost in the finals of the French, Australian and Italian opens.

A new women's champion was crowned, 20-year-old Martina Navratilova of Yugoslavia. She defeated Florenta Mihai of Romania 6-2, 6-7, 6-1 in the final.

The women's tournament illustrated the developing talent in the East European countries. But Chris Evert and other top players were absent, card-winners in the PGA Tour Qualifying School was 430.

Four other Michigan golfers had a chance going into the final day, but fell just short.

Mick Solt, of Marquette, missed by only two strokes, finishing at 432. Southfield's Mark Borichetti and defending Michigan Amateur Champion Mike Hurley, of Albion, tied at 434, while Mark Timyan, of Grand Blanc, finished at 440.

Welbring and Hurley both were magic names in Michigan golf last summer. Hurley won the Amateur at Charlevoix in June and he and Welbring tied for second in the Michigan Open at Battle Creek in August.

Finishing three strokes behind touring pro Randy Erskine.

A spokesman for Red Run said Welbring would not begin playing regularly on the tour until September, after he fulfills his commitment at the club.

"We made an agreement before he left that he'd wait until then if he made it," the spokesman said.

Several Red Run members provided Welbring with financial backing for his bid.

Michigan Golfer Qualifies

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — D.A. Welbring, an assistant pro at Red Run Golf Club in the Detroit suburb of Madison Heights, has qualified to join the PGA Tour.

Welbring, a Quincy, Ill., native who graduated last year from Illinois State University, finished Sunday at 428 and in a two-way tie for 10th among the 26 golfers who earned their touring cards.

The stocky, 24-year-old blond better fired rounds of 68, 68, 76, 68, 72 and 73 over the No. 2 Pinehurst course. The cutoff for

Wiese Pitches, Bats Decatur To 'C' District Title

KURT WIESE

BANGOR — Kurt Wiese did it all while leading Decatur to the Class C baseball district tournament championship here Saturday.

The senior standout slammed four home runs, drove in seven runs and added two pitching victories while leading the Raiders to their first district title since 1971.

Wiese made his first varsity pitching start in the championship clash and beat Bloomingdale 10-5. He also socked three home runs over the rightfield fence to help his own cause.

In the opening semifinal game, Wiese legged out an inside-the-park homer and added the pitching victory in 2½ innings of hitless relief in the Raiders' 7-3 triumph over Battle Creek Springfield.

"We play as a team and win as a team," declared Decatur coach Jack Gleason, "but Wiese is definitely a one-man wrecking crew. He proved that today. He deserves all the credit he has gotten so far."

Wiese, who is now hitting .494 with a 4-1 pitching record, has already made the coaches' all-state team this year and undoubtedly will receive more honors.

Junior catcher Mike Fuentes was also a standout for Decatur as the Raiders hiked their record to 17-8 and moved into this Saturday's Class C regional at Bronson against Jonesville, which defeated Bronson 4-3 in its district title tilt.

Fuentes, who like Wiese went four-for-seven (all singles) in the tourney, raised his average to .355. "He did a good job... a really good job," added Gleason. "We call him the general. He's the general of the infield."

Decatur got eight hits in the championship game, with Wiese hitting homers in the third, fourth and sixth innings...including a grand slam in the fourth. The roundtrippers ranged from about 310 feet to 350 feet in length. "They kept getting farther and farther out there," recalled Gleason.

Decatur never trailed, with Wiese's grand slam breaking up a 2-2 deadlock.

Bloomingdale, which now stands 18-6, got seven hits off Wiese's pitching, including a triple and a single by Jim Koerper and doubles by Mike Fritz and Tom Rigney.

Wiese fanned 12 and walked three. Mike Stone was the starting and losing Bloomingdale pitcher, and Kevin Wilkinson worked in relief.

In Decatur's semifinal victory over Springfield, Wiese came on in relief of starter Dave Gebhardt. John Craig was the losing pitcher.

Decatur got the inside-the-park homer from Wiese in the first inning and never trailed. The Raiders built a 3-1 lead after three innings. Springfield tied the score in the fifth and Decatur put the game away with a four-run burst in the bottom of the sixth.

The loss left Springfield at 6-16.

Bloomingdale made it to the finals with a thrilling eight-inning 4-3 triumph over defending district champion Kalamazoo Hackett.

Wilkinson started Bloomingdale's winning eighth inning with a one-out double. Pat Barnes then walked before Gene Allen delivered a two-out, game-winning hit.

Bloomingdale finished with seven hits, with Koerper having a double and a single and Mike Fritz and Wilkinson doubles. Bill O'Connor was the losing pitcher in relief.

Hackett, which bows out at 19-4, got eight hits, with Pete Livingston and Brad Hackman having two each.

Pat Barnes was the winning pitcher in five innings of relief where he allowed five hits and fanned six. Koerper had started for the Cardinals.

In the bracket opposite Decatur and Jonesville in this Saturday's Bronson regional will be Blissfield and Buchanan. The winners play in the afternoon championship clash, with the survivor advancing to the state finals June 18 at Marshall.

Chieftain Pitchers Baffling In 'B'

Dowagiac Captures First Title

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

STURGIS — Dowagiac's version of the Ryan-Tanana show carried the Chiefs to the Class B district baseball championship here Saturday.

Like the California Angels' Nolan Ryan and Frank Tanana, right-hander Jim Waalkes and southpaw Larry McLaughlin put on a dazzling display of hurling to completely shut down baffled batters.

Waalkes and McLaughlin allowed only three hits in two games and no earned runs as Dowagiac posted its first district title in history.

McLaughlin, getting revenge for being overlooked on the Blossomland all-league team announced last week, gave up only two hits in the Chiefs' 3-1 win over Blossomland champion River Valley in the opening game. Waalkes, who has been overshadowed by McLaughlin all season, proved his merit when the chips were down in the title game as he allowed only one hit in a tight 2-1 win over Sturgis.

The host Trojans advanced to the finals with a 4-2 victory over Lakeshore.

"Our pitching and defense were just fantastic," commented first-year Chief coach Dean Hagen. "Waalkes just did a heck of a job. He's been pitching well for us all season but we haven't given him much backing in the field. But we did today... our defense really did the job."

"And McLaughlin is just great...the best pitcher in southwestern Michigan. He was a little hurt about not making the all-conference team. We had a little talk earlier in the week. I told him to just go out there in the districts and do a good job and people will be looking at that."

McLaughlin, 7-2 with an ERA around 0.33, and Waalkes, 6-3 and around 1.20, combined for 10 innings of no-hit ball as McLaughlin pitched perfect ball the last five frames of the first game and Waalkes didn't give up a hit until the sixth inning of the title tilt.

Dowagiac, which finished tied for second place in the final Blossomland standings, scored all the runs it needed in the second inning against Sturgis. Jim Brosnan and Gary Rohacs batted in the runs. The Chiefs, who finished with 11 hits, threatened in every inning but left 11 runners stranded.

McLaughlin, Brosnan, Rohacs and Kurt Cox all pounded two hits. Brosnan led the Chief hitters for the day with a 4-for-4 effort.

Waalkes, who fanned seven and walked five, flirted with a no-hitter until Bob Sisson, son of former Edwardsburg basketball coach Skip Sisson, broke the string with a solid single to center with two outs in the sixth. Hagen then made a testy decision by bringing in McLaughlin with runners on first and second. One run came in on a throwing error but then McLaughlin got the next batter on a tap to the mound. McLaughlin got the save by mowing the side down in the last inning.

McLaughlin and all-league hurler Denny Busse locked horns in the first game with the Super Chief emerging the victor. McLaughlin gave up hits in each of the first two frames but then was untouchable as he retired the last 16 batters in order. The crafty lefty finished with six whiffs.

Busse, who struck out eight, also tossed a strong game but was hurt by two key Valley errors.

The Mustangs, who end at 19-7, scored in the first on a single by Steve Copeland, an error and a double steal.

Dowagiac, which had seven hits, tallied one in third on a RBI double by Dan Weinman and two in the fourth on RBI singles by Waalkes and Brosnan. Brosnan, Waalkes and Weinman all punched two hits.

The Chiefs, who only made two errors in the two games, now advance to the Class B regional Saturday at Marshall. Dowagiac is 20-9 overall.

Lakeshore ended its season at 18-10 with its heart-breaking loss to Sturgis, which scored all its runs in the fifth after a Lancer throwing error. The decisive blow was a three-run, two-out homer by Jeff Nostesine over the left-field fence.

Mark Owens was the hard-luck pitcher for the Lancers. Gary Hambright posted the win, permitting only three singles while fanning seven.

The Lancers scored in the third on a two-base error and a wild pitch and in the sixth on a sacrifice fly off the bat of Jim Turner.

The game was the last one for Lancer coach Jim Sanford, who is giving up baseball to devote all his attention to coaching the basketball team. His five-year career record was 72-52.

In a fine display of sportsmanship the Lancers, who stayed for the title game, rooted for the Chiefs, their fellow Blossomland members, and congratulated them after the Chiefs' title victory.

DANDY DUO: The fantastic pitching of Larry McLaughlin (left) and Jim Waalkes carried Dowagiac to the Class B district championship Saturday at Sturgis. The two, displaying the district trophy, limited River Valley and Sturgis to just three hits in the two games. The Chiefs topped Sturgis 2-1 in the title game. (Staff photos by Jerry Dykstra)

Champ Buchanan Eyes Revenge Now

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

NILES — Buchanan will finally get its chance for revenge. The Bucks earned a second chance against defending Class C state baseball champ Blissfield by winning the Class C district here Saturday.

Blissfield ripped Buchanan 9-0 in last year's regional on its way to capturing the state title. And much of that team is returning.

"They're defending state champions," Buchanan coach Bob Storm said. "What can I say? We've got our work cut out for us."

Blissfield, sporting a 24-2 record, will face the Bucks at 12:30 p.m. next Saturday in the second game of the Class C regional at Burton. Decatur (17-8) battles Jonesville in the first game at 10 a.m.

The Bucks earned that second chance with some great team baseball Saturday. Sparked by some unexpected heroes, Buchanan nipped Lake Michigan Catholic 8-5 in eight innings. Then in the anti-climatic championship game, the Bucks blasted outmanned New Buffalo 15-3. The title game was called by the mutual agreement of both coaches after five innings by the 10-run rule. The Bisons had reached the title contest with a 6-5 win in eight innings over Brandywine.

The red-hot Bucks have now won 10 straight and 16 of their last 17 games for an 18-9 season record.

And in winning its second straight district title, it was a team effort in the true sense of the phrase for Buchanan.

Mo Kyles was one of the big guns for the Bucks with four hits in the two games to up his batting average to a solid .318.

"Mo does a great job," Storm said. "He's got all of the tools. He's got great speed, is a great fielder, has quick hands and is a good hitter. His future is unlimited."

"He has a quick bat," he added. "It's tough to get the ball by Mo. He's progressed a lot."

Then there was the strong pitching of Larry Ott, who has been playing much of the year in the shadow of mound ace Kevin Van-derbush.

Ott picked up victories in both games for Buchanan. He allowed no runs and just one hit after relieving Vanderbush in the seventh inning against Lake Michigan Catholic.

Then in the championship contest, Ott worked the first four frames and gave up only two runs (one earned) and four hits. Ott now sports a sparkling 7-3 record with an impressive 1.13 earned run average.

But those two were not the only standouts for Buchanan. Third baseman John Speckline collected two hits against Catholic and belted a three-run homer against the Bisons.

Vanderbush and John Donley smashed key home runs against Catholic, while second baseman Alan Ward added a pair of hits.

The Bucks quickly put away New Buffalo, scoring five times in the first inning and adding six more in the third. But the district championship may have been put away about three hours earlier against Catholic.

Donley belted a one-out homer in the eighth inning to break a 5-5 tie and gave the Bucks their thrilling win.

Trailing the entire game, the Lakers rallied to tie the game on Scott Mucia's two-run double in the seventh inning. Catholic actually had a good chance at winning the contest.

Mucia stood on second with no one out and the heart of the batting order coming up. But Ott entered the game at that point. Mucia was thrown out trying to steal third and Ott got Ron Madrox and Gary Bartalano on flyballs to end the threat.

The loss spoiled an otherwise brilliant year for Catholic. The Lakers finished with a 19-6 season record, believed to be the school's best ever. The defeat snapped an 11-game winning streak.

"It was just the type of game I expected only we made all of the mistakes," Laker coach Gary Boyce said. "We came back and we've been playing over our mistakes all year. Today we just made too many. We gave them four runs and that was the difference."

"We had Vanderbush on the ropes, though, I've got to be pleased with that. Overall I can't complain about the season. We worked pretty hard. The kids never quit, though, and that's one attribute I tried to instill."

New Buffalo also gained a spot in the title contest in thrilling fashion. The Bisons rallied to tie the game with a run in the seventh and then won it on DuWayne Mangold's home run to start the eighth.

Mangold had gotten New Buffalo into the semifinals with a similar homer against Cassopolis in the pre-districts. His round-tripper in the seventh gave the Bisons a 6-5 win over the Rangers. The Bison outfielder also homered against the Bucks in the title contest.

Andy Brandon, who had two hits for the winners, drove in the tying run with a seventh-inning single. Vince Smith singled to open the frame and was sacrificed to second.

Don Rogers also had two hits for the Bisons, who finished the year at 7-13.

Tim Zepka reached base five times for Brandywine, which ended up 8-18. Mike Bailey and Joaquin Bosque each added two hits for the Bobcats.

Yank HR Barrage Beats Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — "Nobody can tell me the ball isn't livelier than it was last year," said Manager Billy Martin Sunday after his New York Yankees had battered the far reaches of Comiskey Park with a barrage of six home runs in an 8-6 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

"The fans like it because it means more runs, but it drives the managers crazy," said Martin.

Thurman Munson started the home run surge with his ninth in the first inning. Carlos May hit his second in the second inning after Reggie Jackson had singled. Jackson hit a two-run shot in the third for his ninth of the season and Graig Nettel followed with his 13th. Rookie George Zeher hit his first in the majors in the fourth inning and Bucky Dent led off the ninth with his second homer of the season.

"Sure the ball is livelier," echoed White Sox Manager Bob Lemon. "I've never seen so many hit so far."

Jackson's shot was a tape-measure job which had to carry well over 450 feet into the upperdeck in right-centerfield. May and Nettles' homers also were upperdeck shots as was one hit by Chicago's Oscar Gamble in the third inning.

The first four homers by the Yankees were off starter Steve Stone, who had not allowed more than three runs in any of his previous 10 starts this season and entered the game with a personal five-game winning streak.

"I just didn't have it. I pitched poorly," said Stone. Stone is convinced the ball is livelier "but that had nothing to do with my performance today. Sure, guys like Richie Zisk, Oscar Gamble and Reggie Jackson are going to hit their home runs. But you are going to see a lot of the little guys hit them this year."

The last time the Yankees had six homers in one game was April 14, 1974, against Cleveland in Yankee Stadium. The major league record is eight in one game held by several clubs, including the 1939 Yankees.

Although the Yankees took the series from Chicago 2-1, the White Sox scored 21 runs in the process and left the Yankee pitching staff in a shambles.

Gil Patterson started Sunday but suffered a shoulder injury in the second and was replaced by Dick Tidrow. Sparky Lyle finished to earn his 11th save with Tidrow getting the victory. Tidrow worked all three games of the series and Lyle has appeared in five of the Yankees' last six games.

"I'm out of pitching," said Martin. "I've got to get nine innings out of Catfish (Hunter) at Texas tomorrow. Right now Kenny Holtzman is the bullpen whether I need a long man or a short man tomorrow."

"I think Patterson is going to be shelved and maybe we might call up (Ken) Clay from Syracuse," said Martin. "Those White Sox never quit. They just wear you out."

The Sox scored twice in the second inning on a double by Jim Spencer and singles by Jack Brohamer, Jim Essian and Allen Bannister. Gamble hit his 10th homer in the third. Sacrifice flies by Spencer in the fifth and Bannister in the sixth provided runs and Chicago scored again in the seventh on a double by Zisk, a single by Lamar Johnson and a fielder's choice.

Tanana Gets 9th Win

ANAHEIM (AP) — You would have thought Frank Tanana had just lost the seventh game of the World Series.

"That wasn't me tonight, boys," the California Angels pitcher told the media Sunday night. "Go talk to the fielders and the hitters."

The media didn't want to leave. Tanana had just become the first nine-game winner in the major leagues, pitching the Angels to a 5-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Tanana's earned run average dropped to 1.99.

It wasn't one of his more artistic performances. Second in the majors in strikeouts to teammate Nolan Ryan, Tanana fanned only four Tigers.

A three-day layoff in the schedule had given Tanana five days off between starts. In his last appearance he had dropped a 1-0 decision to Cleveland when Dennis Eckersley threw a no-hitter at the Angels last Monday night.

"Six days are too much, but what are you going to do?" said Tanana, who is now 9-2. "I was in too good of a groove before the layoff. Everything the Tigers hit tonight was at someone."

The Tigers and Angels complete their three-game series tonight. Mark Fidrych, 0-2, hurled for Detroit against Gary Ross, 2-2.

Tanana's teammates continued to give him royal support Sunday night. In the first inning, Gil Flores singled, moved up on a sacrifice by Jerry Remy and scored on a single by Don Baylor.

Detroit tied it up on Jason Thompson's eighth home run in the fourth inning.

"I'm not noted for my smarts," said Tanana. "I struck him out in the second inning and kept trying to blow the ball by him. He hit a fastball out."

California blew the game open in the sixth inning with three runs off Tiger starter Fernando Arroyo, 3-3.

Baylor opened with a single. Joe Rudi singled to left field and when Baylor beat the throw to third base Rudi took second. Bonds doubled, with both runners scoring.

Dave Chalk followed with a single to short center, with Bonds stopping at third base. Pinch-hitter Ron Jackson forced Chalk with Bonds scoring to make it 4-1.

The Angels tied an American League record with three sacrifices in the eighth inning when they scared their final run. Bonds drew a walk. Chalk hunted and was safe when Bonds beat pitcher Jim Crawford's throw to second base.

Jackson sacrificed the runners into scoring position. After an intentional walk to Bobby Grich, Terry Humphrey squeezed Bonds home.

Gobles Clips Bees For 'D' Title

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

LAWRENCE — A green youngster and an old veteran helped Gobles nail down the Class D baseball crown here Saturday.

Sophomore Kraig Smith, just recently elevated to the varsity, went 4-for-7 and senior Bryan Clement was 3-for-4 in two games as the Tigers knocked off Bridgman 13-8 in the title game.

The Bees had made the finals by beating host Lawrence 10-1 and Gobles downed Lawton 8-2 in its initial contest.

Smith scored four runs, knocked in five tallies and hit a home run which sewed up the championship game. "That, sophomore keyed us today," grinned Tigers' coach Dave Hudson. "He really got us up."

Clement creates action the same way Lou Brock does for St. Louis. The 5-8 senior stole his 70th career base in the first inning of the title clash and was on base seven of the eight times he batted.

He scored four runs, had a double and a triple, knocked in three runs, had three walks and was hit by a pitch.

Bill Moreland was Bridgman's top hitter. The junior went 5-for-7 for the day, scored four runs, had two RBIs and hit a double. He also hurled a two-hitter to get the Bees into the championship game.

Each team scored a pair of runs in the first inning. Moreland singled one in and Bob Weed came home on a wild pitch.

Clement scored on an error by the third baseman and Tim Lannis, who was the winning pitcher in both games, came around on a single by John Hunt to tie up the contest.

Al King singled in Moreland and Joe Jones singled home King to put the Bees up 4-2 in the third. But the Tigers came up with five in their half of the third to go ahead 7-1. Smith keyed the rally with a two-run single. Gobles notched a run in the fourth and two in the fifth for a 10-1 lead. But Bridgman came back with four in the top of the sixth to only trail 10-8.

After two were out, Tim Barinka walked, Weed singled, Moreland singled in Barinka, Weed scored on a wild pitch, King knocked in Moreland and Tim Meredith doubled in King.

Gobles clinched the crown in the bottom of the sixth when Kendall Smith sacrificed in a run and Kraig Smith put one past the football field, which is also the outfield of the baseball diamond, which scored two runs.

"This game was typical for us," stated Bees' coach Gary Owens. "We play sharp for a while then give up a few runs. We hit the ball well and scored enough runs to win. But out pitching wasn't there."

Jones and Moreland combined in the title game to give up seven walks, two hit batters and 10 hits.

Moreland was tough as nails in the first Bee game as he didn't give up a hit until the seventh frame. Ed Glista and Doug Harrington were only the only Lawrence batters to get hits. Moreland did walk six and hit one, though.

Weed and Meredith both drove in two runs in the game. Each also had three hits in the two games.

Pat Walburn drove in four Gobles runs against Lawton with three singles.

Gobles now meets the winner of the Detroit St. Hedwig district at North Adams at 12:30 p.m., Saturday.

Campbell Stops Old Teammates

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Bill Campbell wanted to prove that you can go home again, he did it in style Sunday.

Campbell, Boston's ace reliever who signed with the Red Sox for $1 million as a free agent after leaving the Minnesota Twins last winter, made his first appearance against his former teammates in Boston's 5-1 triumph Sunday. Campbell did not spare the dramatics in his return engagement either, entering the game with the bases loaded and none out in the Twins' sixth.

Campbell got out of the jam after allowing just one run, which Rod Carew drove in with a sacrifice fly on a 3-0 pitch. Over-all, he pitched four innings of two-hit relief in recording his ninth save of the season.

Campbell's heroics gave Reggie Cleveland his fourth victory in seven decisions. George Scott drove in the Red Sox' first run with a single in the sixth. It was his 1,700th career hit.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Kansas City edged Jim Palmer and Baltimore 4-3, Seattle beat Cleveland 6-1, the New York Yankees slugged six home runs in defeating Chicago 8-6. Toronto's Jerry Garvin earned his seventh victory of the season in besting Vida Blue and Oakland 7-3, Texas nipped Milwaukee 7-6 and California took Detroit 5-1.

Designated hitter Pete LaCock's two-run homer in the fourth inning gave Kansas City its victory over Baltimore. For the second straight time, Palmer, 7-5, was unable to become the winningest pitcher in Orioles' history. He is tied at 181 victories with Dave McNally. Palmer blamed himself for the loss.

Ruppert Jones' 10th home run of the season and John Montague's first complete game of his major league career highlighted Seattle's triumph. The victory snapped a four-game Mariners' losing streak and made Montague, 5-3, the club's first five-game winner.

Toronto rookie Garvin, 7-3, bested Blue, 3-7, with four innings of sparkling shutout relief from Jerry Johnson. Otto Velez slammed two home runs and Doug Ault hit a three-run shot in support of Garvin.

Tom Grieve's homer and two RBI and the one-hit relief pitching of Adrian Devine helped the Rangers beat Milwaukee. The Brewers got home runs from Cecil Cooper, Sal Bando and Charlie Moore.

Hough Struggles But LA Prevails

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Charlie Hough huffed and he puffed, but he wasn't exactly blowing San Diego batters down. A struggle it was, but the Los Angeles reliever managed to preserve a victory for Doug Rau.

The usually reliable pitcher was uncommonly erratic Sunday, twice walking the bases loaded in the final two innings, but just as he dug himself into holes, he quickly dug himself out to preserve the Dodgers' 4-2 victory over the San Diego Padres.

Hough, for all his wildness, didn't give up a hit while gaining his 15th save of the season.

"What happened to my Hope Diamond?" kidded Dodger Manager Tom Lasorda about his bullpen ace.

Another who's played a major role in getting the Dodgers up front in the National League West is second baseman Dave Lopes. He had a two-run homer Sunday, providing the Dodgers with their eventual winning runs.

Rau gave up five hits before Hough relieved him. Mike Ivie belted his fifth home run with the bases empty in the fifth inning, giving the Padres a 2-1 lead. But Lopes' two-run homer in the bottom of the fifth put Los Angeles ahead to stay as the Dodgers retained a 10-game lead over Cincinnati in the National League West.

In other National League games, the Cincinnati Reds edged the Houston Astros 3-2, the Montreal Expos edged the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2, the San Francisco Giants scored the Atlanta Braves 10-9, the New York Mets beat the Philadelphia Phillies twice, 6-5 and 3-2 and the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the Chicago Cubs 5-4.

Johnny Bench drove in five runs with two homers and Joe Morgan had a three-run blast, powering unbeaten Gary Nolan and Cincinnati over Houston. Bench, who entered the game with a .227 batting average, slammed his 10th and 11th homers of the season to take over the team lead with 37 runs batted in.

Montreal's Sam Mejias slugged a pinch-hit home run to lead off the seventh inning and break a 5-5 tie. Mejias, acquired by the Expos from St. Louis last November, hit his first major league homer pinch-hitting for pitcher Don Stanhouse. Stanhouse got the victory in relief of Santo Alcala.

Bill Madlock smashed a two-run double and Derrel Thomas hit a pair of sacrifice flies as San Francisco took an early seven-run lead and held on to beat Atlanta.

The Giants hammered out an 8-1 lead in the first three innings. But Atlanta jumped into contention with a five-run rally in the seventh, featuring a grand-slam homer by rookie Barry Bonnell, his first homer in the major leagues.

John Milner scored the winning run in the 10th inning on a bases-loaded wild pitch by reliever Tom Underwood to give New York its first-game victory over Philadelphia.

Dave Kingman's three-run homer in the fourth inning enabled the Mets to defeat the Phillies in the second game and record their first doubleheader sweep this season.

Belts Three Homers In 'C' Softball Rose Powers 'Cats To Title

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

NILES — Deanna Rose saved her best day for just the right time as far as Brandywine's girls softball team is concerned.

Rose belted out five hits, including three home runs, in sparking the Bobcats to the Class C district championship here Saturday.

The pint-sized centerfielder smashed two of the round-trippers as the Bobcats crushed

Lake Michigan Catholic 18-4 in the semifinals. Then Rose belted another home run, a double and a single as the Bobcats got by Edwardsburg 10-8 in the title contest.

"I've been waiting all year for Deanna to have a game like that," her father Dave Rose said. Rose, a former Brandywine basketball coach, assisted with the softball team this season.

Head coach Carol Thurston was also lavish with her praise of Rose.

"Deanna had one whale of a day," Thurston said. "She has not been having a good year, but she made up for it today."

One of Brandywine's assistants noticed a flaw in Rose's batting stance and corrected it during an early Saturday morning hitting practice.

"She dropped her hand when she batted and that made a lot of difference," Thurston said. "She had been holding her hand higher on her swing. We got her to drop the hand and swing level."

And Rose not only did the job at the plate, but in centerfield, also. A brilliant sixth-inning catch may have saved the championship game for Brandywine.

With one out, runners at second and third and Brandywine leading just 8-7, Edwardsburg's Tommy Herremans slammed a drive which appeared to be over Rose's head.

Rose went back, leaped and caught the ball. She then threw a strike to third baseman Sheryl Herremans to double runner Suse Curtis off the bag.

"Deanna has always been a good defensive centerfielder," Thurston said. "But I thought that ball was long gone."

Rose's two-run homer came in the third inning and broke a 3-3 tie. The Bobcats tallied three more runs in the frame for an 8-3 lead. Brandywine never trailed after that.

Also belting a homer for the winners was Deanna Burrow. Herremans had three hits and winning pitcher Teresa Duncan two.

Deb Armstead and Dixie Casey each had two-run homers for Edwardsburg, which finished 14-6.

An 11-run first inning carried Brandywine to its easy win over Lake Michigan Catholic. Collecting just three hits, the Bobcats took advantage of eight walks for the early uprising.

Rose drove in three runs with her two homers. Cathy Simmons added a home run and a triple and drove in four runs. Burrow and Duncan each drove in two runs with a pair of hits.

Armstead's bases-loaded single in the last of the seventh gave Edwardsburg an 8-7 win in its semifinal game with Eau Claire. Armstead reached base five times in the game with two hits and three walks.

Brandywine, now 20-6, will face Kalamazoo Christian at 10 a.m. this Saturday in the Class C regional at Wyoming-Kelloggville.

BOBCAT SPARKPLUG: Brandywine's Deanna Rose is mobbed by her teammates after a brilliant sixth-inning catch helped the Bobcats beat Edwardsburg in the championship game of the Class C district. Rose combined her great catch with three hits, including a home run, to help Brandywine to a 10-8 victory. (Staff photo)

Ziegler In Line For NHL Job?

TORONTO (AP) — John Ziegler, the 43-year-old general counsel for Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, will accept a three-year contract as NHL president within the next few days, according to a published report.

In a dispatch from Montreal, where the NHL opens its annual meetings today, the Toronto Globe and Mail said Ziegler is expected to receive in excess of $175,000 annually as successor to Clarence Campbell.

The newspaper also quotes Alan Eagleson, executive director of the NHL Players' Association, as saying the league's selection committee — assigned 17 months ago to screen potential successors to Campbell — did not come up with a suitable list of candidates.

"Ideally, the new president should have been a tough guy from outside of hockey," Eagleson was quoted as saying. "When the stakes are as high as those in the NHL, that committee should have been searching everywhere for the ideal replacement."

Instead, the five-man committee — consisting of Campbell, Bruce Norris of the Red Wings, Bill Jennings of New York Rangers, and Roy Boe of New York Islanders — looked within NHL ranks, Eagleson says.

The association executive is also quoted as saying a July 1 expansion deadline, established by an NHL fact-finding committee, must be met if there is to be expansion into World Hockey Association cities this year.

Eagleson is quoted as saying the deadline cannot be met unless the WHA folds immediately.

This would clear the WHA and NHL of a major legal hurdle and allow for the consolidation of the leagues without contravening U.S. anti-trust laws which regard any merger as a restriction of trade, Eagleson adds.

The Globe and Mail says the current WHA franchises in Quebec, Edmonton, New England and Cincinnati already have formulated compensation arrangements with their weaker WHA partners, whereby they will buy up all "live" contracts, pay those unable to meet expansion payments upwards of $1.5 million and be ready for NHL expansion free of any legal entanglements.

'D' District Won By Tough Gobles

MARTIN — Powerful Gobles blasted its way to the Class D district softball title here Saturday.

Belting 31 hits in two games, the Tigers easily captured the crown. Gobles got by Climax-Scotts 7-5 and then gunned down Colon 23-6 in the title game.

"We played a lot of good team ball," Gobles coach Kelly Benga said. "And the kids came through both offensively and defensively."

Gobles, now 18-2, faces another high-scoring team in Galien next Friday in the Class D regional at Martin.

Gobles tallied eight runs in the fourth inning and added eight more in the seventh for the easy championship victory.

Sue Robard and Glenda Evans each belted out four hits for the winners. Pam Markus added a home run and a double and Vicky Walburn, Terry Jones and Alice Johnson each had a pair of hits.

Gobles tallied with three runs in the fifth inning to get by Climax-Scotts. Walburn had three hits and Penny Smith, Robard and Lisa Westcott each had two.

Smith picked up both pitching victories.

South Haven, Buchanan Early Losers In Tennis

South Haven and Buchanan were both quickly eliminated from the respective state Class B and C-D tennis meets Friday and Saturday.

The Rams collected three points in the Class B meet at Kalamazoo College. The Bucks came up with the same total at Holland.

Kalamazoo Loy Norrix defended its Class A crown at Midland. The B title went to East Grand Rapids, while Grosse Pointe Woods University Liggett edged Birmingham-Detroit Country Day for the Class C-D crown.

Richard Wagner of South Haven advanced to the quarterfinals before losing. No other local players moved past the second round. Wagner lost to Ann Canneck of Flint Powers 6-3, 6-3. Wagner won just one match, but because of a first-round bye he received two points for the win.

Bill Wood collected South Haven's other win with a first-round singles victory.

Buchanan posted three first-round victories. Mike Moon beat Dan Meyers of Comstock 6-3, 3-6, 6-2. Jim Grant got by John Rose of Wyoming Lee 6-3, 3-6, 6-2 and Jim Fagras clipped Tom Joseph of Saginaw St. Stephens 6-4, 6-4.

All three were beaten in the second round.

Richards' Signing With WTT A Real Hot Potato

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Moments after news broke that the Pittsburgh-Cleveland Nets of the World Team Tennis had signed Renee Richards, the phone began ringing its head off in the WTT headquarters here.

"They are still ringing. I have hardly had time to breathe," said Earl "Dutch" Buchholz, new commissioner of the revolutionary court circuit which aims at putting tennis on a franchise community level with football, basketball and hockey.

This is the first hot potato he's handled since he took over the reins at the start of the season. It's hot enough to burn your fingers.

"I got scared at first," said Buchholz, a 36-year-old former Davis Cup player, already well established in the business as proprietor of two classy clubs and conductor of widespread coaching camps.

"I was afraid that whatever action I took would be misinterpreted. If we refused to accept her, we could be accused of bias and short-sightedness. If we took her in, people might say we are trying to promote WTT through bursary."

"So I told Joe Zingale (owner of the Cleveland-Pittsburgh franchise) that if Renee passed the International Olympic Committee chromosome test I would okay it. If she can play at Wimbledon, she should be permitted to play WTT."

Miss Richards, who as eye-specialist Richard Baskind was a ranking Eastern player in the men's 35-and-over tournaments before undergoing a sex change, took the IOC test over the weekend.

The result can be expected momentarily.

"I spoke to Chris Evert about it," Buchholz said. "Chris agreed if she passes the test there should be no problem, no boycott. I also talked to Betty Stove, the president of the Women's Tennis Association. She agreed with Chris."

"People from all over the country have been calling to find out what the status is. The various team owners have shown a lot of interest and anxiety."

The Women's Tennis Association has been adamant in barring Renee from its major tour, the Virginia Slims. The tall transsexual, however, has played in the satellite Lined Cup events, pairing with Billie Jean King in doubles.

Renee entered the Italian and French Championships as well as Wimbledon this year. She reportedly did not pass prescribed tests in Rome and Paris, and did not play.

Renee passed an Olympic-type test earlier this year in Little Rock, Ark. She refused some subsequent tests, contending they constituted personal harassment.

It's surprising that Renee Richards should be such a problem. Now 42 years of age, never a top-ranked player, a repeated loser, she poses no real threat to Chris' throne.

Only ridiculous boycotts can keep the issue alive.

Four IHL Franchises Lost Combined $400,000

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Four International Hockey League franchises lost a combined $400,000 last season. But apparently only the Dayton Gems are in serious danger of not returning for the 1977-78 campaign.

Port Huron lost the red ink parade. The Flags, a municipally owned franchise, will lose about $140,000 when all the bills are in, according to a report in the Toledo Blade.

The newspaper said Dayton's losses should reach $100,000. Muskegon dropped around $65,000 and Columbus' deficit is in the area of $75,000.

Flint is believed to have lost slightly while Fort Wayne finished $4,300 in the black.

Toledo, Saginaw and Kalamazoo, the Blade reported, were the only big moneymakers in the league. Toledo's profit, in excess of $150,000, was probably the largest for last season.

Despite the Flags' loss, the team is almost assured of returning because of 11th-hour maneuverings by John Wisner, a former Port Huron owner and wealthy businessman. Wisner volunteered to solicit $50,000 from the city's businessmen to help cut the loss.

Columbus cut its losses in half by drawing 35,000 more fans. Still, Columbus owner Al Saville and directors of the State Fairgrounds Coliseum have been slow negotiating a new contract.

Muskegon's loss is the worst ever for the team. But there is little question the Mohawks will be back.

Dayton's franchise is in jeopardy. The Gems have lost $350,000 in the last four years and almost didn't make the IHL starting lineup last winter.

For the second season in a row, the Gems have closed their offices in the off-season.

The three Dayton franchise owners, Ralph Skilken and Ralph and Harold Wampler, are seeking a buyer for the Gems. Without infusion of fresh money, the club likely will fold.

Detroit Suburb Is A Prisoner Of Fear, Suspicion

EDITOR'S NOTE — The quintessential American scene: A pleasant, tree-shaded suburb. Nice place to raise children. Only this one is haunted by a psychopath who kills children. And over the past 15 months, a community has learned to live with fear and suspicion. The social costs are high.

— Murder, a mosaic:
Ten-year-old Maureen Degen

15 months. The man who killed Timmy in Birmingham almost certainly killed three other children — first playing a grim game of house.

The long investigation hasn't turned up the psychopath yet, but it has cast a shadow on the community, piercing the facade of many private lives. Nonetheless, every snippet of the detective work is zealously followed and discussed.

Jim Haunicher, supervisor of day brunch at Uncle John's Pancake House when he saw a man "with heavy eyes" who resembled a sketch of Timmy King's suspected killer.

He sneaked to the telephone and found five women fretting over whether they, too, should call police. After fumbling, dropping pencils and dialing a wrong number, he called.

The man dashed out. Erdodi gave chase, leaping into his car and followed until police arrived. Wrong man.

cuser is, and he finds that frustrating.

Murder has disrupted a way of life, destroyed a sense of suburban well-being and stolen children's innocence.

Life will not be the same in Oakland County for a long time. Spring seems to be withering, and summer does not bring the prospect of warmth. The community cannot take a vacation from fear.

Police compare their investigation to turning over a stone or a board in a meadow and finding things dark and unsavory.

Timmy King was the last victim, and police believe the person or persons who kidnapped and killed him also killed three other children — Mark Stebbins, 12, Ferndale; Jill Robinson, 12, Royal Oak; Kristine Mihelich, 10, Berkley. The three other crimes apparently are unrelated.

Police think the killer kidnaps the children, plays house with them for up to 19 days then kills them. Three were smothered; one was shot in the face.

They were not beaten or bruised. They were well-fed, clean and warmly clothed. Their bodies were placed where they would be easily found.

Police believe all four crimes had a sexual denominator, but only the boys showed evidence of molestation.

"He must have a heck of a personality and be must love children," says Sgt. Joseph Kraske of the Michigan State Police, No. 2 man in the task force investigating the crimes.

"He's not your typical weirdo or child molester. He's somebody's neighbor."

According to a psychological profile, the killer is a man in his 20s or 30s who lives or works in Oakland County. He is intelligent and probably a white-collar worker.

"This is a collective trauma to the community. There is no parent or child in Oakland County who has not been affected," says Dr. Emanuel Tanay, forensic psychiatrist at Wayne State University who has consulted with investigators.

"It will affect the community for years to come."

"It has a great impact on child rearing, and families have altered their behavior patterns to adapt to this situation."

bottle caps, pieces of wood and string and conferred solemnly over each.

David explained, "These are clues about the killer."

"We think about it every day and the children talk about it every day. You feel helpless," says Carol Degen, Maureen's mother, who has four other children.

Timmy had to walk past their house on the night he was abducted. The police searched their yard. "It could have been ble wanderer has become docile and meticulous in reporting to his mother.

He's scared, but there's just a little bit of a thrill in all this commotion.

"I don't mind giving up the fort. I don't want to get killed," says Jimmy brightly.

"When we skateboard down the hill, if we see a stranger we roll off into a ditch. And we don't play flashlight tag at night any more without the big kids around."

—Maureen Degen had to learn the meaning of "molest" and "sick."

—Sarah Parker was taken off school safety guard duty during the month of April because she had to stand alone.

—Kate O'Brien, 5, was afraid of the dark and woke up crying. She was afraid the killer was going to take her away.

—Ceola O'Brien drives home the new message by role playing with her children — Kate, Colin, Patrick and Shan — in their has bad dreams. She sees a man chasing Timmy King, her murdered classmate. She sees herself walking down a broad, leafy street. "And then a man grabs me and starts beating on me."

In class, she says, children still cry, and they dedicate playground games to Timmy King.

Maureen clips newspaper stories about Timmy's murder.

Andrews Grads Hear 'Zero Base' Praised

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Commencement exercises for 440 graduates of Andrews university here were held Sunday morning as an overflow crowd filled the Pioneer Memorial church and spilled over into downstairs classrooms to watch the ceremony on closed-circuit television.

An honorary Doctor of Laws degree was presented by the university to Elisha Gray II, former chairman of the board of Whirlpool Corp. Gray, whose service at Whirlpool spanned more than three decades, was honored for his contributions to the southwestern Michigan community and to American industry.

The citation for Gray read: "In recognition of his major contributions to business and community life in Berrien county, the state of Michigan and the nation, as well as his leadership of one of America's great corporations, the faculty of Andrews University presents Elisha Gray II as a candidate for the degree Doctor of Laws honoris causa."

Also receiving honorary doctoral degrees were Harry Anderson and Neal C. Wilson.

Anderson was awarded the degree Doctor of Fine Arts for his many accomplishments in the field of religious painting. Anderson has illustrated many books published by the Seventh-day Adventist church. His work has also appeared in many general interest magazines with national circulation such as McCall's and Saturday Evening Post.

Wilson, who was awarded a doctor of divinity degree, now serves as vice president of the Seventh-day Adventist church for North America and oversees the church's activities in the United States, Canada, and Bermuda.

Referring to the Carter Administration's proposal to institute zero-base budgeting in the federal government, Wilson titled his commencement address "Zero Base Living."

"It requires re-justification of an entire operation, from zero," he said. "Nothing is taken for granted; nothing is considered fixed or permanent. Each proposition must be reviewed afresh in terms of goals achievement. I submit that we may need to apply some of these same principles and techniques in evaluating our motives, our activities and our lives."

"Zero base living sweeps away all superficiality and selfishness and builds into one's life, from a zero base, true values of human worth," said Wilson.

Andrews' college of arts and sciences provided 238 of the graduates, while 91 were from the school of graduate studies. 91 were from the theological seminary, and 20 graduated from the college of technology.

Six students from the school of graduate studies received doctor of education degrees: Robert Thompson Andrews Jr., of Berrien Springs; Alex S. Currie of the Fiji Islands; Roger Dudley of Scottsdale, Ariz.; Timothy Gorie of Rhodesia; Donna Jeanne Habenicht of Berrien Springs; and Rebecca Pigott of Elkhart, Ind.

Seven graduates from the theological seminary were awarded doctor of ministry degrees: Victor Brown of Berrien Springs; Walter O. Corum of the Philippines; Eoin Barnard Giller of New Zealand; Warren Hilliard of Japan; Johnny Johnson of Nigeria; John Chun-Ming Lu of Taiwan; and Edward Skoretz of West Lafayette, Ind.

V.E. Garber and Dr. Thomas S. Geraty were selected by the education department of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists to receive the Medallion of Merit, the highest award given by the church to its outstanding educators.

Garber is retiring this month, ending 24 continuous years of service to Andrews university as business manager and subsequently vice president for financial administration. During his career at Andrews, Garber has been largely responsible for the construction of the majority of buildings now in use on the campus.

Dr. Geraty, who came to Andrews in 1970, has held a number of positions in Seventh-day Adventist education, including editor of the Journal of Adventist Education. During his career, he spent time in the Orient and in the Middle East, and was president of Middle East college in Beirut, Lebanon.

Dr. Geraty has been chairman of Andrews' education department for seven years.

The medallions were presented by Dr. Garland J. Millet from the church's world headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Area students receiving degrees were: From Berrien Springs: Edgar E. Archbold, Jurnita M. Bissell, Rebecca S. Burke, Max H Church, Susan E. Darrough, C. Steve Davis, Beverley A. Fitcher, Fred L. Galusha, Christopher Gillman, Shirley Diane Hamilton, Lester M. Hands, and Beverly Hartlein.

Also, Demetrio R. S. Hechanova, Nuralee A. Herdman, Santa K. Lowe, Victor A. Maguera, Judy Marsh, Timothy Rue Martin, Jan Michaels, Maurice C. Morgan, Charles Morse, Loyd M. Myers, June Nowlin, Greg Offenback,

Also from Berrien Springs are Tami Sanford, Richard P. Schwarz, Eric Shadle, Carl E. Sims, James Sweet Jr., Brenda A. Valentine, Daryl Vorce, Elvira Westman, Daniel P. Cress, Stanley Oelman, Jacquelyn Watkinson, and John Watkinson.

Three Rivers Girl Cass Traffic Victim

MARCELLUS — Tamara Lynn Adler, 7, Three Rivers, became Cass county's sixth

Cass sheriff's deputies said the girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adler, was hit when she tried to run across M-40 north of Gooding street, north of this village located in the northeast corner of Cass county.

Deputies said Tamara was pronounced dead on arrival at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw.

after a recess yesterday.

Phillip Freeze, president of UAW Local 468 at Buchanan, said details of the new agreement would not be announced until after a ratification vote Thursday. The local represents some 900 workers at the Buchanan axle division plant.

be settlement was reached about 2 p.m. Saturday in a South Bend motel, Freeze said.

Richard (Mike) Daugherty, president of UAW Local 1290, which represents workers at the construction machinery division plant in Benton township, said workers would remain on the job today while talks continued.

about 400 hourly workers are employed at the Benton township plant.

Contracts at both plants expired at midnight, Friday, and talks between labor and management continued past the deadline.

Galien Festival Draws 10,000 Over Weekend

GALIEN — Sunny skies and mild temperatures prevailed over the weekend, drawing an estimated 10,000 people to Galien's annual, weekend Americans Together Day.

General Chairman James Przybylinski proclaimed the two-day community festival a success.

The festival was produced by a number of community organizations headed by the Galien Rocket Football association.

There was a petting zoo, a Saturday night dance and the Sunday afternoon parade that drew about 3,000 people, according to festival officials.

Honors for the top float in the parade went to the Coloma Gladiolus Festival float. Other units winning honors were:

Elderly Brothers Injured

SAWYER — One of two elderly eastern Michigan brothers remained hospitalized at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, today following a one-car accident on I-94 near Sawyer late Saturday morning.

Listed in good condition at Memorial was Walter Blum, 84, of Attica. His brother, Erwin, 73, of Grosse Pointe Woods, was released yesterday after being held overnight for observation.

a hospital spokesman said.

State police at New Buffalo said Erwin Blum was headed east on the interstate when he lost control of his auto. The car traveled across the eastbound lanes and the median strip before coming to rest in the westbound lanes, Police said.

No citations were issued in connection with the accident reported at 11:43 a.m., police said.

TUCKERED OUT: Charity Hollingsworth found events of Galien's Americans Together Day just too much to take without short snooze. She is shown cradled in arms of her mother, Mrs. James (Karen) Hollingsworth of rural Niles. (Norma Payne photos)

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market extended Friday's rally with a broad advance today. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose more than a point in early trading. Gainers led losers by close to a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues. The upswing was set in motion by the news Friday that the rise of the wholesale price index had slowed to 0.4 per cent last month, while the unemployment rate dropped to a 2 1/2-year low of 6.9 per cent.

In addition, New York's Citibank held its prime lending rate at 6 1/2 per cent, although the bank's formula gave it the option of raising the basic charge on blue-chip loans to 7 per cent. Monroe Auto Equipment picked up 3/4 to 1 1/4 in active trading today. The company said an appeals court had turned down the Federal Trade Commission's bid to hold up the acquisition of Monroe by Tenneco. On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average climbed 8.06 to 912.23, closing out the week with a 13.40-point advance. Gainers outpaced losers by more than a 5-2 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume reached 26.33 million shares, against 18.62 million on Thursday. The NYSE's composite index rose .40 to 53.36. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index jumped 1.63 to 113.28.

Police Say Chase Tops 100 MPH

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau
BUCHANAN — A Plano, Ill., migrant worker was scheduled to appear in Berrien county, Fifth District court today after his arrest following an early Saturday morning high-speed chase between Berrien Springs and Buchanan, according to police.

Police said Ubaldo Gallegos, 22, was arrested about 3 a.m. near Buchanan on charges of reckless driving and attempting to flee from police.

Police said the 10-mile chase began in Berrien Springs and reached speeds in excess of 100 miles per hour over Snow road and Red Bud trail before the auto was forced off the road by Buchanan police inside the Buchanan city limits.

There were no injuries, police said. James Kesterke, Berrien Springs village-Oronoko township police patrolman, said the chase began when he attempted to stop an auto on Ferry street in the village for allegedly going 40 miles-per-hour in a 25 m.p.h. zone.

Buchanan Patrolman Joseph Yeakley, driver of the Buchanan police cruiser, said the chased auto was struck by the patrol car as the driver was forced off the road.

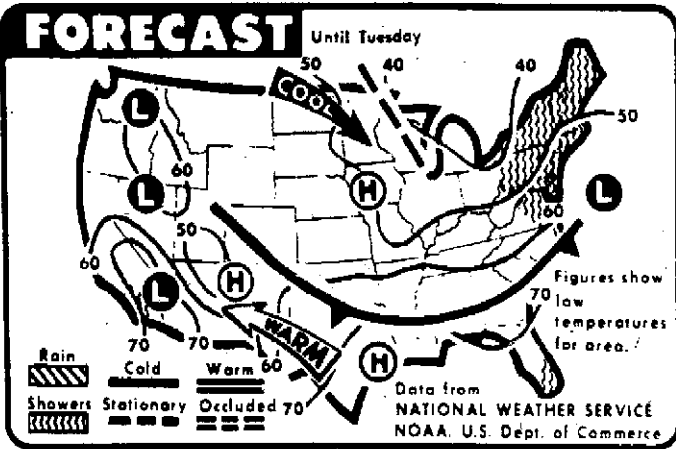

Buchanan police said they issued the reckless driving citation and Berrien Springs-Oronoko police said they issued the ticket charging Gallegos with attempting to flee from police.

Six Cyclists Clocked At 110 M.P.H.

BRIDGMAN — Six men identified by state police at New Buffalo as members of a Chicago motorcycle gang were issued speeding tickets late Saturday morning on I-94 near Bridgman for allegedly going 110 miles per hour in a 55 m.p.h. zone.

Troopers said all six men pleaded guilty to the citations in Berrien county Fifth District court. Each paid $80 in fines and costs after appearing before Judge Leo K. Cook, police said.

Police said the six motorcycles were timed on radar at 110 m.p.h. in Chikaming township and were stopped near Bridgman about 9:30 a.m.

The six men, reported by police to be members of the Midnight Riders of Chicago, were identified as:

John Clark, 31; Sam Rollins, 26; Nathaniel Brown, 38; Kenny Withers, 23; Columbus Graham, 30; and Curtis Young, 25. All but Graham, who was from Hopkins, Ill., are Chicago residents, police said.

Rollins also pleaded guilty to a traffic of having no operator's license, and paid fine and costs of $10 levied by Judge Cook, troopers added.

Unconscious Girl Found Near Park

BRIDGMAN — Warren Dunes state park officials and state police were attempting late this morning to identify a young woman who was found unconscious across the road from the park entrance early Sunday morning.

Listed in good condition this morning at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, the young woman has been tentatively identified by police as Cindy Johnson, in her early 20s, address unknown.

Tim Hudson, a park ranger at Warren Dunes, said he was guarding the park entrance about 7:30 a.m. when he was notified by a passerby that the girl had been found lying in the mud near the driveway of the Warren Dunes motel. The motel, not associated with the park, is located on Red Arrow highway opposite the park.

Hudson said the girl was incoherent when taken to the hospital, and positive identification has not been possible yet. He asked that anyone with information that might lead to identification of the girl contact either state police at New Buffalo or the state park office.

A spokesman at the hospital said there were no visible injuries and tests were being conducted. Hudson said he does not know what happened or how the girl got to where she was found.

Rollover Hurts Lansing Pair

Benton township police reported a Lansing woman and her son were probably spared from serious injury by the seat belts they were wearing when their auto overturned on east-bound I-94 near I-196 Sunday.

Police said Patricia L. Ambrustmacher, 33, and Eric Ambrustmacher, 5, were treated and released from Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, after the steering apparently failed in their car, sending the auto onto the freeway median and into a roll at 5:30 p.m. The car landed on its wheels after the rollover, officers said. They said the driver was not ticketed.

Terry Lee Boyle, 30, route 1, Gallen-Buchanan road, was treated for facial cuts and released from Unity hospital, Buchanan. The incident occurred during the village's Americans Together celebration, according to deputies from the Gallen substation.

Boyle said he was trying to break up a fight about 2 a.m. Deputy Gerson Drake said Boyle's head went through the glass door as he fell after being struck. Boyle was one of two men who reported they attempted to break up the fight. The other was identified as Roger Horn, 34, Gallen. Deputies said no charges have been filed pending further investigation.

Treated and released at Mercy hospital was Dorothy Anderson, 29, of 1125 McAllister avenue. Police said she sustained apparent knife wounds. She was accompanied by Orzell Anderson, 33, of the same address.

AFTERMATH OF FIRE: Production building of Acro Chemical Co., Fennville, looked like this following early Sunday morning fire. Blaze erupted about 1:15 a.m. and destroyed facility. Storage building (at left

Three Area Communities Struck By Major Fires

BY TOM BRUNDRETT
State Editor

Major fires struck in three southwestern Michigan communities over the weekend, destroying or damaging a small industry, a new car agency and a 100-year-old building.

The fires occurred at the Acro Chemical Co., Fennville; the Hayden-Beardslee, Inc., Ford agency, Cassopolis; and the century-old structure in Breedsville.

Firemen said the production building at the chemical firm was destroyed as was the 100-year-old building. The parts room at the new car agency and its contents were destroyed, but the rest of the building and new cars were saved.

Dollar loss was placed at "over $100,000" at the car agency. No damage estimates were determined immediately in the other two fires.

Firemen said the fire in Breedsville threatened two buildings on either side of the burning structure on CR-380.

The Fennville plant fire sent flames high into the air and it was reported the flames could be seen several miles away.

Fennville firemen reported the state Natural Resources department was called in as a precautionary move because of the chemicals involved in the fire. The chemicals were described as non-toxic, but flammable, by a firm spokesman.

Firemen believed the fire in Breedsville was touched off by lightning in a storm which swept through southwestern Michigan early Sunday morning.

No cause for the fires in Fennville or Cassopolis had yet been determined. But Norman Barrett, Cassopolis fire chief, said last night arson was suspected in the car agency fire and he said the investigation was still underway.

Fennville firemen reported the fire at Acro struck about 1:15 a.m. Sunday. Flames destroyed the production building of the firm which makes ingredients for printing industry ink. It is located at 353 First street.

Firemen kept a storage building behind the production building wetted down to keep the fire spreading to chemicals stored there.

The heat was so intense, however, sections of the metal pole building were melted, according to firemen.

Firemen from both the Fennville and Saugatuck departments battled the fire.

Fennville firemen said they left the scene about 4 a.m., but had to return about 7 a.m. when the fire started up near a tank containing a chemical.

The firm, owned by Frank Feuerstein and Mike Calahan, both of Holland, employed five people, including the owners. The owners said they planned on rebuilding.

During the height of the fire propane tanks and other tanks exploded inside the production structure.

The fire at the car agency on M-66 was confined to the parts room in the combination showroom-service area building. It broke out about 10:30 p.m. Saturday night.

Philip Beardslee, firm owner, said the fire was reported by an employee, Jerry VanBroeklin, who was working in another part of the building and heard an explosion.

He said the dollar loss from the fire came in parts and the structural damage in the parts room. New cars in the building were driven outside and were not damaged, he reported. He said the firm would be open for business as usual today.

The Cassopolis fire chief, Barrett, said the fire apparently began in a stack of papers on a table in the parts room and was fed when flames from the tank melted a gas valve on an overhead heater allowing natural gas to be released.

Forty to 50 firemen from five fire departments fought the blaze. Six were treated for heat exhaustion while battling the fire, but none required hospitalization.

The building in Breedsville was described as the largest building in the business section. It had been used in past years as a grocery store and a dance hall, but was being used for storage when the fire struck about 6:20 a.m. Sunday.

The Hampton Grocery store and the Breedsville Auto Parts store located on either side of the building on CR-380 were saved from the flames by Bangor and Bloomington firemen who fought the blaze.

The building owner was identified as Edward Kozlowski, South Haven.

Corporate Fraud Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service says a tax probe of U.S. corporations shows the existence of 481 possibly illegal corporate slush funds, of which 71 may represent criminal fraud. The IRS said Sunday it uncovered the slush funds in a special questionnaire audit of the nation's 1,200 major corporations, starting in April 1975. A spokesman said 896 corporations returned the questionnaire by the end of March, and that 481 responses produced "potential slush fund-type issues." Seventy-one cases were turned over to the IRS Intelligence Division for investigation of possible criminal fraud, he said, adding that more may follow.

More Mothers Using Midwives

ATLANTA (AP) — Pregnant women who want an alternative to traditional childbirth practices are turning to a more modern and well-trained version of the midwife of yesterday.

The Department of Human Resources reports that more than 1,800 of the 73,000 babies born in Georgia last year were delivered by nurse-midwives — a modern version of the "granny" midwife of colonial days.
